Marines Engage Cong Battalion

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. Marines engaged an estimated battalion of Viet Cong — perhaps 500 men — in day-long skirmishing in the Ky Lam River Valley southwest of Da Nang today and reported killing 57.

The multicompartment Leatherneck force was officially reported to have suffered moderate casualties.

A spokesman said the Marines were on a sweep in the valley, 10 miles northeast of An Hoa. Sporadic fighting continued at dusk.

U.S. B52 bombers struck 32 miles north of Saigon in the Iron Triangle campaign and, in two other raids, pounded Communist positions on the central coast of South Vietnam.

Bad weather again curtailed air strikes at North Vietnam.

The largest ground action reported today involved units of the South Korean White Horse Division, operating near Tuy Hoa on the coast 230 miles northeast of Saigon. The division's 28th regiment went after Viet Cong soldiers holed up in caves and reported killing 53 of the enemy Wednesday and today.

The B52s made their first raid of the day near the coast about 290 miles northeast of Saigon, attacking a suspected Communist headquarters 61 miles north of Qui Nhon.

The B52s followed this with a raid at noon on an enemy supply and base camp area 53 miles north of Qui Nhon.

In their third raid, the bombers hit this afternoon at Viet Cong bunkers, trenches and storage areas on the northern edge of the iron triangle 32 miles north-northwest of Saigon. The raid was in support of Operation Cedar Falls, the massive ground sweep by U.S. forces through the area long held by the Communists.

Off the North Vietnamese Coast, three U.S. destroyers and a Navy Skyraider plane attacked Communist cargo boats moving south in the vicinity of Dong Hoi. U.S. spokesmen said the destroyers Stoddard, Keppler and Ingersoll destroyed six supply vessels and damaged 19 in a series of attacks with their five-inch guns Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Skyraider, acting as a spotter plane for the destroyers, aided in the attacks with rocket passes and also reported knocking out an antiaircraft gun site 34 miles south-southeast of Dong Hoi.

U.S. bomber pilots flew 52 missions over North Vietnam Wednesday, U.S. pilots reported heavy cloud cover again limited operations.

Navy fliers from the carrier Kitty Hawk attacked the Nam Dinh rail yards 50 miles south of Hanoi and reported a secondary explosion. Kitty Hawk pilots also struck at the Thanh Hoa railroad complex for the third day but said the clouds prevented a damage assessment.

In air action over South Vietnam Wednesday, U.S. pilots flew 457 strike sorties against enemy camps, storage areas, water traffic and fortifications. South Vietnamese pilots flew 98 strike sorties.

Americans Have Not One, But Two Foes in Vietnam

HANOI, North Vietnam (AP) — There are two Vietnams shooting back at the Americans.

One is called the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, the country here in the north, whose leader is Ho Chi Minh.

The other, of course, is the National Liberation Front, whose soldiers, known by Americans as the Viet Cong, are in the steady and violent engagements in the fighting down South.

The National Liberation Front is not recognized as a government by the United States.

What very few persons know, for a certainty, is whether the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, the government here in the north country, actually rules the rather portable government down South.

A visiting reporter is inclined to doubt that Hanoi governs the National Liberation Front, or the Viet Cong.

Surely, Ho Chi Minh, because of his immense prestige, and other leaders of the north have long influences with the National Liberation Front down south.

Indeed, General Vo Nguyen Giap, respected in American military circles as a most accomplished commander, probably has as much to do with strategy of the troops in the south as anyone, and he is formally of the government here in the north.

American officials say that the Democratic Republic of Vietnam or the Ho government, is constantly shipping men and supplies south, to the Viet Cong. These claims are dismissed here by the Asian equivalent of shrugging the shoulders.

The persons you converse with here are strong in expressing sympathy and admiration for the Vietnamese who are fighting the Americans and the South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky troops down south.

One minister of the government here told this reporter that the National Liberation Front, or Viet Cong, consulted him about the Ho government on important decisions. Otherwise, the sentiments you hear are that North Vietnam can not make decisions for the south.

The difference could be critical. If, for instance, the United States and the Ho government decide to initiate peace talks one day, what about the Viet Cong, if it is independent. Indeed, if it is independent, the only solution might be the personal influence of Ho Chi Minh to urge the Viet Cong to end fighting.

Romney, who has been mentioned prominently as a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1968, flew here for the meeting Wednesday. It had been arranged just a few hours earlier.

The governors talked for about an hour in a hotel suite, held a news conference to disclose what they had or had not discussed, and then Romney flew back to Detroit.

Both denied that politics played an important part in their discussion.

Romney said that as far as politics was concerned they did not discuss "anything that I haven't discussed publicly already."

Rhodes, also a Republican, said he wished he could "call a moratorium on national politics" until he could get "some of our problems solved in Ohio."

Romney praised Rhodes' plan for a building authority as the "broadest approach anyone has taken" to solve problems of financing major building projects. The plan, which would set up an authority with power to issue bonds for financing a multitude of projects from highways to public housing, now is before the Ohio Legislature.

The Michigan governor told newsmen he is setting up a capital expenditure committee to study long-range financing of public projects in his state. He said he came here to discuss "mutual problems" with Rhodes.

The republican governors were agreed that state governments should play a more important role than they have in the past.

The governors concluded the conference by drinking a tomato juice toast. Rhodes has been promoting tomato juice as an Ohio product. However, the juice the hotel provided was poured from a can with the label of a Detroit producer.

The meeting was held in Cleveland because Rhodes had a date to receive an award from the Woods and Waters Club for conservation efforts.

Ohio May OK Emergency Pay Raises

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers may rush through a new emergency pay raise bill in an effort to retain highway patrolmen, nurses, and other "critical area" state personnel being lured to higher paying outside jobs.

The possibility was mentioned Wednesday night after a long legislative day that included introduction of a state employee pay raise bill by minority Democrats and committee hearings on two key administration primary ballot proposals. Votes could come next week on proposals to create an Ohio building authority and to permanently reapportion the legislature.

In other developments: The House received a measure providing pay raises for judges of the Ohio Supreme Court as well as appellate, common pleas, and probate judges.

The Senate received a proposal that would increase benefits to retired school teachers and their survivors.

Rep. Ralph D. Cole Jr., R-5 Hancock, chairman of the House State Government Committee, recommended a special emergency bill to raise the pay of employees in "critical areas" which in recent years have had turnover as high as 35 per cent.

They were included in the administration's pay raise bill which came before Cole's committee for the first time Wednesday night. Members agreed after hearing brief testimony that the entire package should go to a subcommittee.

Cole appointed Rep. Ralph Welker R-27 Meigs chairman, and Reps. Douglas Applegate D-33 Jefferson and Barry Levey R-39 Butler to the subcommittee.

Rep. Richard M. Christiansen D-17 Richland was sponsor of the Democratic raise bill which (Continued on Page 2)

Sheriff Aids Probe

Two-State Theft Ring Is Broken

A burglary ring operating in two states has been broken up with the arrest of two men in West Virginia, it was announced today by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

In announcing the arrests, Sheriff Radcliff said more than $1,000 worth of tools taken from the farm of Gail Waidelich in Fairfield County have been recovered.

Efforts of the local sheriff's department led to the apprehension of Ermil Hinkle, 29, and Harold Ray Blevins, 32, in Borderland, W. Va.

The two men have been linked with an attempted burglary of a service station in Ashville, and with using stolen credit cards to obtain gasoline at the same firm.

Sheriff Radcliff said that a burglary at a Columbus firm in which $1,000 worth of tools were taken has apparently been solved. The tools have been recovered.

The first break in the case came Jan. 9 when the burglary of Waidelich's farm was reported.

Sheriff Radcliff said the men had been at the farm prior to the burglary, reportedly looking for a house to rent. They had access to the building where the tools were stored, according to Ray Forbush who was at the farm that day.

Through the description given by Forbush the men were traced to Ashville where they allegedly used the stolen credit cards to obtain gasoline.

According to the sheriff, the men had been selling the stolen articles in the neighborhood around Borderland, W. Va.

Waidelich's tools were recovered from a dealer who said he paid $135 for them.

The sheriff believes the two men are involved in more burglaries which have occurred in Pickaway and surrounding counties.

An affidavit charging Blevins and Hinkle with grand larceny has been filed in Fairfield County by Waidelich. The two men will be charged in Pickaway County with the fraudulent use of stolen credit cards.

Franklin County authorities will probably take legal action on the theft there, Radcliff said. Deputy Charles Jones of the local department has been

Stolen Art Recovered In Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — A $350,000 painting by Italian Renaissance artist Giovanni Bellini was recovered by FBI agents Wednesday, more than a year after it was stolen from St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Ind.

The FBI seized the painting after arresting Joseph A. Riso, 28, of River Grove, Ill., who they said was placing the work in the trunk of his car.

Riso, charged with interstate transportation of stolen goods, appeared before U. S. Commissioner C.S. Bentley Pike who fixed bond at $2,500. The case was continued to Feb. 8.

The painting, "Virgin Mary and Child with St. Nicholas of Bari and Donar," was discovered missing in November 1965.

The painting, donated in 1961 by Dr. Bohumir Kyril, a Chicago musician, had not been insured because the university did not budget funds to authenticate the work. A painting must be authenticated before a theft policy can be issued, the Rev. Charles H. Banet, St. Joseph president said.

Father Banet said the college would try to insure the painting after obtaining an official appraisal.

Officials at the Parke-Hunt Art Gallery in New York said the painting was authenticated in 1953.

Sees Chance For Moderate Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson directed today that plans be prepared to avoid a recession that might otherwise follow "the welcome day of peace" in Vietnam.

The possibilities of quick tax reduction and spending speed-ups will be studied by a Cabinet-level group, Johnson told Congress, as part of a "major and coordinated effort to review our readiness" for the war's end — a day still not foreseen, he emphasized.

The announcement came in his annual economic report. In it, Johnson forecast a moderate advance of the economy through 1967, if it can be steered past the hazards of inflation on the one side and recession on the other.

The outlook is for a $47-billion rise of national output, he said, to a record $787 billion — a slower climb than in 1966, but with smaller price rises, easier money, and continued almost-full employment.

Johnson renewed urgently his appeal to labor and industry for wage and price restraint, in continued voluntary support of guideline policies, to avoid "a wage-price spiral which is in the interest of neither."

Unless both labor and management absorb part of their rising costs, he said "the result will be just such a spiral — damaging to business, damaging to labor, and disastrous to the nation."

But the surprise of the message, sent to the Capitol along with a report by the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was a section titled "After Vietnam."

Johnson said he was naming Gardner Ackley, economic council chairman, to take leadership of a postwar study group made up of the heads of the appropriate federal departments.

Among other preparedness efforts, he said, Ackley's group will:

—Consider "possibilities and priorities for tax reduction."

—Determine which high-priority government programs can be expanded quickly.

—Prepare for a prompt easing of credit and expansion of money supply.

—"Examine ways in which the transition to peace can be smoothed for the workers, companies and communities now engaged in supplying our defense needs, and the men released from our armed forces."

The message exuded economic optimism. "Prosperity is everywhere evident," said the President in forecasting a seventh year of unbroken growth.

President-Elect Of Brazil Meets LBJ for Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Arthur Da Costa e Silva of Brazil meets with President Johnson today and may find out how much U. S. aid he can expect for his announced plan to "humanize" Brazilian government programs.

Costa e Silva goes to the White House for a luncheon in his honor after two hours of conferences with Undersecretary of State Lincoln Gordon, coordinator of American aid under the Alliance for Progress, and with William S. Gaud, administrator of the U. S. Agency for International Development.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk extended Costa e Silva "the warmest welcome" in behalf of Johnson when the Brazilian leader arrived at nearby Andrews Air Force Base Wednesday night for a one-week state visit.

Rusk accompanied Costa e Silva to Blair House, the mansion near the White House for visiting dignitaries, and the two held initial talks in the library. Costa e Silva is to be inaugurated March 15.

Speculations From Saigon Are Still Unconfirmed

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky returned tonight from a goodwill visit to Australia and New Zealand for an emergency meeting of the military junta that fired one of its leading members, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, in his absence.

Fellow generals met Ky at the airport. Also on hand were U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and other members of the diplomatic corps and scores of Vietnamese dignitaries.

Co was dismissed Tuesday as defense minister and deputy premier while he was abroad, returning via Hong Kong from a goodwill visit to Nationalist China's government on Formosa. Security officers halted him in Hong Kong, where he remains.

Security at the Saigon airport was tight. Military police searched all civilian cars going in.

Several policemen, carrying carbines and holstered pistols jostled television crews and pushed back a cluster of correspondents seeking to contact Ky.

His visit to New Zealand ended with more jeers from demonstrators ringing in his ears, but the tour was generally considered a success in both the countries he visited. Demonstrations were staged by a comparatively small number of opponents of the Vietnam war, and crowds and newspapers ranged from friendly to enthusiastic.

En route home, Ky and his wife stopped in Manila and paid a helicopter visit to Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos at the suburban hospital where he is recuperating following removal of his gallbladder.

Detroit Looks at Facts

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry faced up again today to the fact that the tempo of new car sales has slowed down. Production cuts were ordered.

General Motors and Chrysler reshuffled production schedules to slow down the number of new cars flowing into an already abundantly stocked market.

GM, giant of the auto makers, announced indefinite layoffs for 1,900 Chevrolet workers. It previously had given similar notices to 2,800 other GM workers.

Chrysler said three of its seven assembly plants would be closed for a week in February. A fourth will be idled for two weeks.

cars a day in contrast to the 1,600 it averaged before the shutdown.

Ford Motor Co., in line with a policy laid down by its board chairman, Henry Ford II, effected its production cutbacks by eliminating some planned overtime and by putting one or two plants on a four-day work week at various intervals.

The juggling process has been under way since Nov. 18 when General Motors announced some staggered shutdowns for December and January.

American Motors announced Wednesday it had borrowed an additional $20 million to help increase its slackened auto sales. The bank loan was in addition to $75 million borrowed by the nation's fourth-largest auto firm. The entire $95 million is still payable May 31, the date on which the first loan was to be paid.

Roy D. Chapin, who moved up to chairman of the board at AMC last month, said the action of the 24 banks who approved the increased loan was "an expression of confidence."

AMC finished the day as the most active stock on the New York Stock Exchange, advancing 1 1/4 to 8 3/8 on sales of 224.

American Motors lost $12.6 million in fiscal 1966, as opposed to a profit of $5.2 million the year before.

The production cutbacks ordered Wednesday apparently were an industry recognition that dealer yards were bulging at the seams with unsold new (Continued on Page 9)

Romney Meets With Rhodes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney has a copy of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes' plan for an Ohio Building authority to study, but if he took anything else of importance away from a meeting here with Rhodes he wasn't letting on.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers may rush through a new emergency pay raise bill in an effort to retain highway patrolmen, nurses, and other "critical area" state personnel being lured to higher paying outside jobs.

Committee Wants Hoover To Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee again has asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to testify on the proposed U.S.-Soviet consular treaty. But there is no indication whether he will accept.

The invitation came in a letter Wednesday to Hoover's boss, Acting Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark. Clark has promised to answer it promptly.

Hoover, 72, already has turned down one invitation to testify in person. He wrote Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., committee chairman, that it is the attorney general's job, rather than the FBI director's, to "pass on matters of legislation."

Those close to Hoover, who has outlasted 15 attorney generals in his job, say he probably will not commit himself on the merits of the treaty even if he does testify. Hoover, they said, always has refrained from giving his views on legislation.

The treaty was signed in June 1964 but never has been acted upon by the full Senate. Fulbright's committee approved it in 1965 and now is holding another round of hearings on it.

The treaty does not list specific cities where consulates would be established, but the Soviets are believed interested in setting up offices in New York, Chicago and possibly on the West Coast. The United States reportedly wants one in Leningrad.

In some aspects, a consulate amounts to a branch office of an embassy, looking after personal, commercial and cultural interests.

Reportedly, much of the Senate opposition to the treaty is based on Hoover's supposed opposition to it. But Hoover never has come out definitely against it — or for it, for that matter.

Sheriff Aids Probe

Two-State Theft Ring Is Broken

A burglary ring operating in two states has been broken up with the arrest of two men in West Virginia, it was announced today by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

In announcing the arrests, Sheriff Radcliff said more than $1,000 worth of tools taken from the farm of Gail Waidelich in Fairfield County have been recovered.

Efforts of the local sheriff's department led to the apprehension of Emil Hinkle, 29, and Harold Ray Blevins, 32, in Borderland, W. Va.

The two men have been linked with an attempted burglary of a service station in Ashville, and with using stolen credit cards to obtain gasoline at the same firm.

Sheriff Radcliff said that a burglary at a Columbus firm in which $1,000 worth of tools were taken has apparently been solved. The tools have been recovered.

The first break in the case came Jan. 9 when the burglary of Waidelich's farm was reported.

Sheriff Radcliff said the men had been at the farm prior to the burglary, reportedly looking for a house to rent. They had access to the building where the tools were stored, according to Ray Forbush who was at the farm that day.

Through the description given by Forbush the men were traced to Ashville where they allegedly used the stolen credit cards to obtain gasoline.

According to the sheriff, the men had been selling the stolen articles in the neighborhood around Borderland, W. Va.

Waidelich's tools were recovered from a dealer who said he paid $135 for them.

The sheriff believes the two men are involved in more burglaries which have occurred in Pickaway and surrounding counties.

An affidavit charging Blevins and Hinkle with grand larceny has been filed in Fairfield County by Waidelich. The two men will be charged in Pickaway County with the fraudulent use of stolen credit cards.

Franklin County authorities will probably take legal action on the theft there, Radcliff said.

Stolen Art Recovered In Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — A $350,000 painting by Italian Renaissance artist Giovanni Bellini was recovered by FBI agents Wednesday, more than a year after it was stolen from St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Ind.

The FBI seized the painting after arresting Joseph A. Riso, 28, of River Grove, Ill., who they said was placing the work in the trunk of his car.

Riso, charged with interstate transportation of stolen goods, appeared before U. S. Commissioner C.S. Bentley Pike who fixed bond at $2,500. The case was continued to Feb. 8.

The painting, "Virgin Mary and Child with St. Nicholas of Bari and Donar," was discovered missing in November 1965.

The painting, donated in 1961 by Dr. Bohumir Kyri, a Chicago musician, had not been insured because the university did not budget funds to authenticate the work. A painting must be authenticated before a theft policy can be issued, the Rev. Charles H. Banet, St. Joseph president said.

Father Banet said the college would try to insure the painting after obtaining an official appraisal.

Officials at the Parke-Hunt Art Gallery in New York said the painting was authenticated in 1933.

Sees Chance For Moderate Advances

Midwest Hit With Heavy Rain, Snow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson directed today that plans be prepared to avoid a recession that might otherwise follow "the welcome day of peace" in Vietnam.

The possibilities of quick tax reduction and spending speed-ups will be studied by a Cabinet-level group, Johnson told Congress, as part of a "major and coordinated effort to review our readiness" for the war's end — a day still not foreseen, he emphasized.

The announcement came in his annual economic report. In it, Johnson forecast a moderate advance of the economy through 1967, if it can be steered past the hazards of inflation on the one side and recession on the other.

The outlook is for a $47-billion rise of national output, he said, to a record $787 billion — a slower climb than in 1966, but with smaller price rises, easier money, and continued almost-full employment.

Johnson renewed urgently his appeal to labor and industry for wage and price restraint, in continued voluntary support of guideline policies, to avoid "a wage-price spiral which is in the interest of neither."

Unless both labor and management absorb part of these rising costs, he said "the result will be just such a spiral — damaging to business, damaging to labor, and disastrous to the nation."

But the surprise of the message, sent to the Capitol along with a report by the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was a section titled "After Vietnam."

Johnson said he was naming Gardner Ackley, economic council chairman, to take leadership of a postwar study group made up of the heads of the appropriate federal departments.

Among other preparedness efforts, he said, Ackley's group will:

—Consider "possibilities and priorities for tax reduction."

—Determine which high-priority government programs can be expanded quickly.

—Prepare for a prompt easing of credit and expansion of money supply.

—Examine ways in which the transition to peace can be smoothed for the workers, companies and communities now engaged in supplying our defense needs, and the men released from our armed forces.

The message exuded economic optimism. "Prosperity is everywhere evident," said the President in forecasting a seventh year of unbroken growth.

President-Elect Of Brazil Meets LBJ for Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Arthur Da Costa e Silva of Brazil meets with President Johnson today and may find out how much U. S. aid he can expect for his announced plan to "humanize" Brazilian government programs.

Costa e Silva goes to the White House for a luncheon in his honor after two hours of conferences with Undersecretary of State Lincoln Gordon, coordinator of American aid under the Alliance for Progress, and with William S. Gaud, administrator of the U. S. Agency for International Development.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk extended Costa e Silva "the warmest welcome" in behalf of Johnson when the Brazilian leader arrived at nearby Andrews Air Force Base Wednesday night for a one-week state visit.

Rusk accompanied Costa e Silva to Blair House, the mansion near the White House for visiting dignitaries, and the two held initial talks in the library.

Costa e Silva is to be inaugurated March 15.

that he would discuss the ouster of Deputy Premier Nguyen Huu Co "with my directorate when I get home."

Salmon remained calm but tense. The capital was buzzing with speculation over changes in the military regime and rumors of Vietnamese troop movements. There were few solid facts, but it appeared on the surface that the junta had matters under control.

Co, who also was war minister and defense secretary, was last reported in Hong Kong. Security Minister Linh Quang Vien reportedly met him there Wednesday to offer him an ambassadorship abroad or a trial on corruption charges if he returned to Vietnam.

There was no official comment on reports that as many as 30 field-grade army officers and three generals were under house arrest or close surveillance. Most of them were reported to be members of Co's defense ministry staff or officers in the 5th and 7th Vietnamese divisions which are based near Saigon.

An undetermined number of other officers were reported transferred.

The ouster of the once-powerful lieutenant general was decided upon at a meeting of the directorate which Ky and chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu attended before the premier left Jan. 17. Rumors of Co's removal and a number of other changes in the Cabinet began circulating a week ago.

Christiansen said the Democratic bill would cost $108 million the first two years. He noted the figure was more than double the $47 million two-year cost of the administration's bill.

Rep. Keith McNamara R-64 Columbus, Franklin, and 10 other House members offered the judges' pay bill which has the support of the State Bar Association.

The chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court would receive $32,000 a year compared to the present $24,500, while other justices would be hiked from $24,000 to $30,000.

Appellate court judges would be raised from $23,000 to $28,000 a year. Common pleas and probate court judges would have their salary base increased from $9,000 to $11,000 with local pay boosted also to provide salaries ranging from $13,000 to $26,000 a year under a formula based on populations in their courts' jurisdictions.

Retired teachers and their survivors would get additional benefits under the bi-partisan measure by Sens. Oakley C. Collins R-18 Lawrence and Oliver Ocasen D-27 Northfield. Generally, their bill would provide annual increases amounting to $10 multiplied by the number of years the retiree had in state service.

Among new bills in the house were proposals to:

—Require re-examination of drivers after they are charged with nine points under Ohio's violation point system.

—Confer state status to Youngstown University.

—Establish higher salary classifications for employees at hospitals for the criminally insane.

—Raise payments from the workmen's relief fund from $40 to $80 a week and lift ceiling on employer contributions.

—Requires that birth certificates accompany applications for marriage licenses.

—Establish a 25-member commission on the status of women.

—Permits public colleges and universities to establish retirement programs for professional employees.

Hanoi Made Off-Limits For Bombers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Infused sources report the Johnson administration has barred American pilots from flying within five miles of the center of Hanoi.

Informants said Wednesday the new restrictions apparently were issued in response to the widely published reports of civilian bombing casualties stemming from U.S. attacks in North Vietnam.

The new orders, drawn up within the past week by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, amount to a near-total ban on all U.S. bomber flights over Hanoi and its immediate suburbs.

Under the new restrictions, sources said, pilots will be permitted to fly within five miles of the city only if the overflight occurs during air-to-air combat with enemy fighters.

"That means if somebody's shooting at you, you can shoot back," one source said.

The restrictions are "a result of everything that's gone into the press," another source said. "It shows we're taking into consideration what's being written."

In recent weeks Harrison E. Salisbury, a New York Times assistant managing editor, and Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami Daily News have written on-the-spot accounts of bombing destruction to residential areas in Hanoi and other North Vietnamese cities.

The administration has acknowledged that U.S. bombs apparently have caused civilian damage, but maintains that only military objectives are targeted for attack. The Pentagon refused to confirm or deny the report of new restrictions.

The new limitations mark another step in administration-imposed bombing restrictions since the bombing controversy over civilian bombings erupted last Dec. 13 and 14 after American bombers struck a railroad yard and truck depot within a few miles of the city.

It subsequently was learned that the Johnson administration placed the truck depot and rail yard off-limits to U.S. bombers a few days later and also canceled another planned raid in the area.

Since then no bombs have fallen on Hanoi or its suburbs, although in recent weeks American planes have stepped up the air war and staged bombing raids on an oil depot 14 1/2 miles north of the city.

House resolutions called for abolishing the right to work provision of the Taft-Hartley Act and allowing political parties to fill their own vacancies in the Ohio House.

Sen. Harry L. Armstrong R-17 Hocking would require school boards to establish salary schedules for non-teaching personnel while Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese D-22 Cleveland, Cuyahoga, introduced a bill to add Columbus Day to paid holidays for state employees.

3.9 per cent, he predicted.

But the forecast of 1967 national output was conservative. It called for a 6.5 per cent rise compared to 8.5 per cent last year. When deflated for probable price increases, it shrank to 4 per cent.

Johnson said the stimulus of his $135-billion spending budget, tempered at midyear by the proposed 6 per cent income tax surcharge, provides the proper fiscal mix to keep the economy on the course of "sustainable expansion" — fast enough to prevent stalling, slow enough to avoid overheating.

The council's accompanying report foresaw a price rise of about 2.5 per cent this year, compared with the 3.3 per cent of 1966—which Johnson called intolerable.

Concerning interest rates, which zoomed to 40-year highs in 1966, choking off the supply of mortgage credit and sending the housing industry into a depression, Johnson said:

"The burden of tight money is being lifted. Interest rates are still extremely high, but they are moving down from their peaks."

The housing industry should be "moving smartly forward by the end of 1967, and ready for one of its best years in 1968," he said.

The council's report warned unions that a general adoption of cost-of-living escalators in wage contracts—a current bargaining trend—could become "a vast engine of inflation."

The council called for continued observance of its wage-price guidelines, even while it conceded that the soaring profits of industry and widespread price increases have given justification to labor's insistence on higher wage settlements. The wage increase guideline has been 3.2 per cent, based on the long-term annual rise in worker productivity. The productivity gain averaged 3.5 per cent from 1960 to 1966, the report said, but last year dipped to 3.1 per cent.

The presidential report is the third and last of his major annual messages to Congress.

Diamond Industry Has Ball For Its Dearest Friends

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Politics were forgotten Wednesday night as the mayor of New York and the nation's First Lady danced a rumba around the grand ballroom at the Diamond dinner dance held at the Plaza Hotel.

John V. Lindsay and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson danced, halted, talked earnestly, danced some more, smiled, gestured and eventually found their way back to table 17.

In turn, the President's wife, a tireless belle, one-timed and arm-pumped to waltz music, jostled by "Winchester Cathedral" and glided with other partners to smoother music.

Republicans, Democrats, diplomats, all were a part of the largest concentration of wealth displayed in New York or possibly the country this season.

The benefit dinner dance, which raised more than $50,000 for the Institute of International Education, was underwritten by friends of the diamond industry. And the best friends the diamond industry can have are rich people.

There were Fords, Chryslers, Fraziers, Henry Clay Fricks, Lodges, Huttons, Edward E. Pierreponts, (John), Roosevelts (John), Astors (Vincent), Plimptons (the hon. Francis) and the Ryans (John Barry III).

Certainly a very special friend of the diamond industry is Mrs. Charles W. Engelhard, whose husband mined a fortune of these gems from South Africa.

Baker Trial Testimony Is Concluded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Testimony has concluded in Bobby Baker's trial and the federal court jury is scheduled to start deliberating the fate of the former Senate aide this weekend.

Baker's trial on charges of larceny, income tax evasion and conspiracy is now in its third week. U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver Gasch said he hopes to dispose of the remaining legal questions from attorneys on what his instructions to the jury should be.

Wednesday the prosecution called Robert S. Kerr Jr., son of the late Oklahoma senator, as a rebuttal witness. The younger Kerr testified he had found nothing to show his father had advanced any large sum for Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats.

Baker testified earlier he delivered to Sen. Kerr nearly $100,000 of "senatorial campaign contributions" made in cash by California savins and loan executives and that Sen. Kerr loaned Baker $50,000, half of which sum came from the "campaign" cash.

The government charges, on the contrary, that Baker stole $80,000 of the $100,000, devoted to his own enterprises, and evaded income taxes.

Asked Wednesday if he were aware of any loans, gifts or fees his father paid to Baker other than a $500 loan in 1951, Kerr replied "No sir." Other testimony was that Sen. Kerr kept records of minute transactions, such as $18 advanced to his own sons.

Market Rally Begins Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market began a rally early this afternoon following news that a big New York City bank had cut its basic interest rate. Trading was heavy.

News that the British bank rate had been cut to 6½ per cent from 7 per cent prompted a rise in the bond market and re-emphasized the trend toward lower interest rates, a factor which has helped stock prices considerably this year.

Additional stimulation was given stock prices by news that the Chase Manhattan Bank is cutting its prime interest rate on business loans to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent, effective Friday. Stocks began to trend around then climb rapidly on this news.

At noon, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 1.7 at 311.0 with industrials off 2.5, rails off .8 and utilities off .8.

Britain Cuts Interest Rates

LONDON (AP)—Britain cut interest rates today in a cautious government move to ease the squeeze on the economy. The Bank of England's lending rate dropped from 7 to 6½ per cent.

The reduction means a slight letup in the austerity program imposed last July to save the pound sterling from devaluation.

Joseph Bell Files for Top Council Post

Joseph Bell, 581 N. Court St., has filed petitions for president of Circleville council.

Bell, a Republican, has served four terms as councilman-at-large. He is a veteran chairman of the City Service Committee.

JOSEPH BELL

Associated with Brehmer Greenhouses here, Bell was born in 1917 at Sabina. He was graduated from high school in 1936 and from Ohio University in 1940.

Petitions were taken out Wednesday by Noble E. Barr for council-at-large post and by Dr. David Goldschmidt for the First Ward council seat.

Barr served as a lieutenant with the Circleville Fire Department prior to his retirement. Dr. Goldschmidt is a local optometrist.

Grave Robbery Probed by Police

The theft of an urn at Forest Cemetery was reported this week to city police by Henry Mader, 141 Pinckney St.

Mader said the urn was taken from a family lot south of the veterans section of the cemetery. He said he was not certain when it disappeared.

Value of the missing urn was estimated at $125. Police also are investigating the disappearance of another urn at Forest. Officers said this one was taken from the lot of Mrs. Edward Schreiner of 213 E. Mound St.

he said carried across-the-board increases of $100 a month for an estimated 45,000 state employees.

Christiansen said the Democratic bill would cost $108 million the first two years. He noted the figure was more than double the $47 million two-year cost of the administration's bill.

Rep. Keith McNamara R-64 Columbus, Franklin, and 10 other House members offered the judges' pay bill which has the support of the State Bar Association.

The chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court would receive $32,000 a year compared to the present $24,500, while other justices would be hiked from $24,000 to $30,000.

Appellate court judges would be raised from $23,000 to $38,000 a year. Common pleas and probate court judges would have their salary base increased from $9,000 to $11,000 with local pay boosted also to provide salaries ranging from $13,000 to $26,000 a year under a formula based on populations in their courts' jurisdictions.

Retired teachers and their survivors would get additional benefits under the bi-partisan measure by Sens. Oakley C. Collins R-18 Lawrence and Oliver Ocasen D-27 Northfield. Generally, their bill would provide annual increases amounting to $10 multiplied by the number of years the retiree had in state service.

Among new bills in the house were proposals to:

—Require re-examination of drivers after they are charged with nine points under Ohio's violation point system.

—Confer state status to Youngstown University.

—Establish higher salary classifications for employees at hospitals for the criminally insane.

—Raise payments from the workmen's relief fund from $40 to $60 a week and lift ceiling on employer contributions.

—Requires that birth certificates accompany applications for marriage licenses.

—Establish a 25-member commission on the status of women.

—Permits public colleges and universities to establish retirement programs for professional employees.

Hanoi Made Off-Limits For Bombers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed sources report the Johnson administration has barred American pilots from flying within five miles of the center of Hanoi.

Informants said Wednesday the new restrictions apparently were issued in response to the widely published reports of civilian bombing casualties stemming from U.S. attacks in North Vietnam.

The new orders, drawn up within the past week by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, amount to a near-total ban on all U.S. bomber flights over Hanoi and its immediate suburbs.

Under the new restrictions, sources said, pilots will be permitted to fly within five miles of the city only if the overflight occurs during air-to-air combat with enemy fighters.

"That means if somebody's shooting at you, you can shoot back," one source said.

The restrictions are "a result of everything that's gone into the press," another source said. "It shows we're taking into consideration what's being written."

In recent weeks Harrison E. Salisbury, a New York Times assistant managing editor, and Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami Daily News have written on-the-spot accounts of bombing destruction to residential areas in Hanoi and other North Vietnamese cities.

The administration has acknowledged that U.S. bombs apparently have caused civilian damage, but maintains that only military objectives are targeted for attack. The Pentagon refused to confirm or deny the report of new restrictions.

The new limitations mark another step in administration-imposed bombing restrictions since the bombing controversy over civilian bombings erupted last Dec. 13 and 14 after American bombers struck a railroad yard and truck depot within a few miles of the city.

It subsequently was learned that the Johnson administration placed the truck depot and rail yard off-limits to U.S. bombers a few days later and also canceled another planned raid in the area.

Since then no bombs have fallen on Hanoi or its suburbs, although in recent weeks American planes have stepped up the air war and staged bombing raids on an oil depot 14½ miles north of the city.

House resolutions called for abolishing the right to work provision of the Taft-Hartley Act and allowing political parties to fill their own vacancies in the Ohio House.

Sen. Harry L. Armstrong R-17 Hocking would require school boards to establish salary schedules for non-teaching personnel while Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese D-22 Cleveland, Cuyahoga, introduced a bill to add Columbus Day to paid holidays for state employees.

Deaths

MR. FRANK BOYSEL

Mr. Frank Boyse, 80, Springfield, died 3 a. m. Wednesday in a Springfield Hospital.

Born April 13, 1886, in Fayette County, he was the son of Henry and Sarah Boyse.

Mr. Boyse is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Betty Shaw, Route 4, Circleville; Mrs. Eva Storer, Jamestown; three sons, Simon Boyse, of Indianapolis, Ind.; the Rev. Robert Boyse, Springfield; C. Boyse, Dayton; 11 grandchildren; one brother, Thurman, of Frankfort, two sisters, Mrs. Clara Allison, South Charleston; Mrs. Mary Soule, Buffalo, N.Y.

Funeral services will be 1:30 p. m. Saturday in Richards Memorial Home, Springfield. Burial will be in South Solon Cemetery.

MR. JAMES E. WHALEY

Services will be held 2 p. m. Friday in the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home for Mr. James Edward Whaley, 89. He died Wednesday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Reed of 329 E. Corwin St.

Surviving are six sons and five daughters. He was preceded in death by one son, Willard. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Stolen Car Recovered

A car stolen from the parking lot at Peppermint Lounge last night was recovered on Morris Road 200 yards east of County Road 511 by Deputy Sheriff Warren Straley. The vehicle had been abandoned.

The car had been involved in an accident. The owner, Ronald E. Moore, Route 1, discovered his auto was missing at 12:30 a. m. today.

He told Deputy Straley he had parked the car in the lot at 10:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Sees Chance

3.9 per cent, he predicted.

But the forecast of 1967 national output was conservative. It called for a 6.5 per cent rise compared to 8.5 per cent last year. When deflated for probable price increases, it shrank to 4 per cent.

Johnson said the stimulus of his $135-billion spending budget, tempered at midyear by the proposed 6 per cent income tax surcharge, provides the proper fiscal mix to keep the economy on the course of "sustainable expansion" — fast enough to prevent stagnating, slow enough to avoid overheating.

The council's accompanying report foresaw a price rise of about 2.5 per cent this year, compared with the 3.3 per cent of 1966—which Johnson called intolerable.

Concerning interest rates, which zoomed to 40-year highs in 1966, choking off the supply of mortgage credit and sending the housing industry into a depression, Johnson said:

"The burden of tight money is being lifted. Interest rates are still extremely high, but they are moving down from their peaks."

The housing industry should be "moving smartly forward by the end of 1967, and ready for one of its best years in 1968," he said.

The council's report warned unions that a general adoption of cost-of-living escalators in wage contracts—a current bargaining trend—could become "a vast engine of inflation."

The council called for continued observance of its wage-price guidelines, even while it conceded that the soaring profits of industry and widespread price increases have given justification to labor's insistence on higher wage settlements. The wage increase guideline has been 3.2 per cent, based on the long-term annual rise in worker productivity. The productivity gain averaged 3.5 per cent from 1960 to 1966, the report said, but last year dipped to 3.1 per cent.

The presidential report is the third and last of his major annual messages to Congress.

Two Youngsters Are Treated Here

Two youngsters were treated for minor cuts Wednesday at Berger Hospital.

Michael Butterbaugh, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Butterbaugh, Route 1, Ashville, fell from a merry-go-round at school and lacerated his left leg.

Kris Lowery, 11, son of Mrs. Flossie Lowery of 655 E. Town St., lacerated his left hand on a knife.

Diamond Industry Has Ball For Its Dearest Friends

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Politics were forgotten Wednesday night as the mayor of New York and the nation's First Lady danced a rumba around the grand ballroom at the Diamond dinner held at the Plaza Hotel.

John V. Lindsay and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson danced, halted, talked earnestly, danced some more, smiled, gestured and eventually found their way back to table 17.

In turn, the President's wife, a tireless belle, one-twoed and arm-pumped to waltz music, jostled to "Winchester Cathedral" and glided with other partners to smoother music.

Republicans, Democrats, diplomats, all were a part of the largest concentration of wealth displayed in New York or possibly the country this season.

The benefit dinner dance, which raised more than $50,000 for the Institute of International Education, was underwritten by friends of the diamond industry. And the best friends the diamond industry can have are rich people.

There were Fords, Chryslers, Fraziers, Henry Clay Fricks, Lodges, Huttons, Edward E. Pierreponts, (John), Roosevelts (John), Astors (Vincent), Plimptons (the hon. Francis) and the Ryans (John Barry III). Certainly a very special friend of the diamond industry is Mrs. Charles W. Engelhard, whose husband mined a fortune of these gems from South Africa.

Greeting everyone throughout the evening was the ball chairman, Mrs. George A. Braga.

More than $250,000 in diamonds were modeled, but the worth of those worn by the guests was inestimable. Nevertheless, a few women — Mrs. Johnson among them chose to decorate their necklines with less ostentatious pearls.

Baker Trial Testimony Is Concluded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Testimony has concluded in Bobby Baker's trial and the federal court jury is scheduled to start deliberating the fate of the former Senate aide this week-end.

Baker's trial on charges of larceny, income tax evasion and conspiracy is now in its third week. U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver Gasch said he hopes to dispose of the remaining legal questions from attorneys on what his instructions to the jury should be.

Wednesday the prosecution called Robert S. Kerr Jr., son of the late Oklahoma senator, as a rebuttal witness. The younger Kerr testified he had found nothing to show his father had advanced any large sum for Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats.

Baker testified earlier he delivered to Sen. Kerr nearly $100,000 of "senatorial campaign contributions" made in cash by California savins and loan executives and that Sen. Kerr loaned Baker $50,000, half of which sum came from the "campaign" cash.

The government charges, on the contrary, that Baker stole $80,000 of the $100,000, devoted to his own enterprises, and evaded income taxes.

Asked Wednesday if he were aware of any loans, gifts or fees his father paid to Baker other than a $500 loan in 1951, Kerr replied "No sir." Other testimony was that Sen. Kerr kept records of minute transactions, such as $18 advanced to his own sons.

It's Just Honeymooner's Quarrel, Says Director

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The assistant director opened the door cautiously and said, "Dean, could you come up and look at the scene through the movieola and then do a run-through?"

Dean Martin viewed the suggestion with scorn in his sleepy eyes. He was seated in the basement of an abandoned department store that was being used as a location for his latest film, "Band of Gold." Director Fielder Cook was asking Martin to look at previous film on a movie viewer so he could match the action in the scene that was to be shot that afternoon.

"He asking me to climb those stairs just to look at a movieola?" Martin said indignantly. "Forget it. You tell him when he's ready to shoot the scene I'll be there and I'll know my lines."

The assistant retreated. This was the latest episode on a battle of nerves that has been the talk of Hollywood. The trade had buzzed with reports Martin and Cook were not seeing eye to eye. In fact, the star had not appeared for work one day and the company had to be dismissed.

"Yeah, I had to lay down the law," Martin admitted with his customary casualness. "This guy with the two last names, he was shooting eight or nine takes of every scene. He had a great big three-million-dollar toy and he was having fun with it."

"Trouble is, he was playing with my money," cause the more money that's spent, the less profit I get. But more than that, it ain't my style. How can you tell a joke eight-nine times it's bound to get stale."

"Finally I told him, 'What the hell you doing with all these takes' He said he might find something he didn't expect. I told him, 'Well, you find it in the first or second take, because that's all you're going to get.'"

Martin declared the impasse was settled when Columbia production boss Mike Frankovich instructed the director: "Shoot it his (Martin's) way."

Another assistant director appeared and asked if Martin would now come upstairs for filming. No mention was made of viewing the previous scene.

"Okay," the actor conceded, and he went to the main floor, which was filled with extras. His rehearsal was letter perfect.

As the final preparations were being made for the shot, director Cook minimized their differences.

"If one-tenth of what was printed in the trade papers had really happened," he told a visitor, "it would have been akin to the 1917 revolution."

"In truth it has been like a wonderful eight-week honeymoon, followed by one week of discord. It happens in any marriage. I have great respect for Dean; he is the best high-comedian in the business."

The set was ready. The camera recorded the scene twice. "Print!" said Cook, indicating he was satisfied.

"That's the way ole Dino works," said Martin, retiring to his haven in the basement.

Three Hurt In Accident

James A. Sweeney, 31, Bainbridge, suffered injuries to both knees in a two-car collision Tuesday at S. Court and Ohio Sts.

Sweeney stated that upon reaching the intersection an auto, driven by Everett Carter, 21, of 303 1/2 S. Scioto, apparently passed a stop sign and the collision resulted.

Beverlee Carter, a passenger in the Carter auto, also was injured.

The Carters were taken to Berger Hospital, then transferred to the Lockbourne AFB Hospital. Sweeney also was taken to Berger and later released.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Wesley Barton. He issued a citation to Carter for failure to yield the right of way.

China's Time of Decision Nears

EDITOR'S NOTE — This article by an AP specialist is the fourth in a series of five back-grounding the upheaval in China

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Mao Tse-tung's "great proletarian cultural revolution," spearheaded by hysterical teenagers, has stormed through China's cities, creating wild and violent confusion. It has reached into the trade unions and the factories. And now it is reaching out to China's 500 million peasants.

Although most China-watchers agree that the danger of a shooting civil war has diminished, China remains in the dire peril.

The economy of the cities has suffered severe wrenches from the riotous confusion, and now there is a prospect that the farms are threatened.

China's spring sowing must begin around April. If there is an interruption of reports to the contrary from Peking, experts have reason to believe the late harvests were poor. A new crop failure would be a major calamity.

But the "great proletarian cultural revolution" goes on. This is more than a power struggle of conflicting personalities, although that is part of it. It is evidently a clash of fundamental conceptions of China's economic, social and political future. Recent announcements of what has been going on in China's cities reveal the depth of this clash.

Defense Minister Lin Piao, the man who seems to have the advantage, at least temporarily, has turned all the terrifying power of his "cultural revolution" apparatus at the power bases of his opponents, who seem to be led by President Liu Shao-chi and the party secretary-general, Teng Hsiao-ping.

Much of the opposition's power has rested with the urban laboring class in the party-dominated All China Federation of Trade Unions.

The Young Communist League was replaced by the teen-age Red Guards — the Hung Wei Ping. The trade unions federation now is to be replaced by the "rebel revolutionaries" — Tsao Fan.

Lin's forces, claim in the blessing of "Mao Tse-tung's thinking," moved in on the factories with disastrous results. Production was stopped in many. Enemies were accused of fomenting strikes. The wheels of industry are being slowed, even stopped in some cases, by endless dallies and forced mass discussions of Mao's thought. Each side is accusing the other of sabotaging production.

Lin's forces joined the battle for the laboring class with a declaration of war on "economism," a Communist sin which suggests trying to buy the loyalty of workers with promises of better wages, welfare and living standards. Lin's forces say this is "bribery of the workers," and that it "corrupts the masses."

The time of decision may be close—although it will likely be a long time before Red China recovers from the shock of this titanic struggle.

To informed watchers, the critical question is not which personality wins out, but which line wins: Whether China will continue beligerently isolated from her neighbors, and whether she can recover from all the shocks of the past year and a half.

China's Time of Decision Nears

EDITOR'S NOTE — This article by an AP specialist is the fourth in a series of five backgrounding the upheaval in China

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Mao Tse-Tung's "great proletarian cultural revolution," spearheaded by hysterical teenagers, has stormed through China's cities, creating wild and violent confusion. It has reached into the trade unions and the factories. And now it is reaching out to China's 500 million peasants.

Although most China-watchers agree that the danger of a shooting civil war has diminished, China remains in the dire peril.

The economy of the cities has suffered severe wrenches from the riotous confusion, and now there is a prospect that the farms are threatened.

China's spring sowing must begin around April. If there is an interruption of reports to the contrary from Peking, experts have reason to believe the last harvests were poor. A new crop failure would be a major calamity.

But the "great proletarian cultural revolution" goes on.

This is more than a power struggle of conflicting personalities, although that is part of it. It is evidently a clash of fundamental conceptions of China's economic, social and political future. Recent announcements of what has been going on in China's cities reveal the depth of this clash.

Defense Minister Lin Piao, the man who seems to have the advantage, at least temporarily, has turned all the terrifying power of his "cultural revolution" apparatus at the power bases of his opponents, who seem to be led by President Liu Shao-chi and the party secretary-general, Teng Hsiao-ping.

Much of the opposition's power has rested with the urban laboring class in the party-dominated All China Federation of Trade Unions.

The Young Communist League was replaced by the teen-age Red Guards — the Hung Wei Ping. The trade unions federation now is to be replaced by the "rebel revolutionaries" — Tsao Fan.

Lin's forces, claim in the blessing of "Mao Tse-tung's thinking," moved in on the factories with disastrous results. Production was stopped in many. Enemies were accused of fomenting strikes. The wheels of industry are being slowed, even stopped in some cases, by endless rallies and forced mass discussions of Mao's thought. Each side is accusing the other of sabotaging production.

Lin's forces joined the battle for the laboring class with a declaration of war on "economism," a Communist sin which suggests trying to buy the loyalty of workers with promises of better wages, welfare and living standards. Lin's forces say this is "bribery of the workers," and that it "corrupts the masses."

The time of decision may be close—although it will likely be a long time before Red China recovers from the shock of this titanic struggle.

To informed watchers, the critical question is not which personality wins out, but which line wins: Whether China will continue belligerently isolated from her neighbors, and whether she can recover from all the shocks of the past year and a half.

Too Presumptive

Barring an unexpected reversal, Chile's President Frei will not be going to Washington to see President Johnson early next month. Whether guest or host will thereby suffer the greater humiliation is difficult to assess.

In denying Mr. Frei permission to leave the country, the liberals, leftists and assorted radicals in the Chilean senate sought to even a score derived from the president's success in negotiating new contracts with U. S. copper interests. Chile's share of the profits was increased but nationalization, favored by a sizable minority, was averted.

Mr. Frei might have scraped through a second time, on the matter of his exit permit, except for President Johnson's all too presumptive remarks about the visit in his state of the union message. Depressed about Vietnam, Mr. Johnson waxed euphoric over hemisphere progress, to-wit:

"I am particularly interested in learning more from President Frei about the achievements of his great experiment of revolution in freedom." That did it as far as Mr. Frei's anti-American opponents were concerned. Not only had Mr. Johnson leaped before they had a chance to vote on Mr. Frei's projected trip, he had waved the Christian Democratic party slogan, "Revolution in Freedom," before their eyes.

Somewhere in the vast expanse known as Foggy Bottom, some alert guardian of the national interest should have anticipated the reaction in Chile's senate and flagged Mr. Johnson down. The fact that no one did may explain why this country finds it easier to get into trouble than to extricate itself.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE—We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To the Editor:
This is in reply to a recent letter regarding the need for some sort of social and recreational center for our senior citizens.

This need has been discussed and seriously considered as a future project by the Council of Church Women. It will require a great deal of planning, much volunteer help, and a certain amount of financial backing.

If anyone reading this is interested in helping, we would welcome such people to our next Council meeting, scheduled Monday, February 13 at 8 p. m. in the First EUB Church Service Center.

West German beer drinkers in the last year downed an average of 26.8 gallons of suds compared to Luxembourg's 26.6 gallons, a survey shows. That's awfully close—just a couple of swallows apart.

In fact, the schnapps consumption of those two nations is such a close contest one might call it a head-to-head race.

In his newly published book about the U. S., a Russian writer says American don't know how to laugh. Just another guy trying to be funny.

Because Bruner's Princess Tunku Putri Noor Ensari refused to pay her electrical bill, saying it was her royal prerogative not to do so, the power company has shut off the juice to her home. Now, it's her turn to be shocked.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN RODDY McDOWALL'S extraordinary book of photographs of celebrities, "Double Exposure" (with accompanying texts by equally famous VIP's), George Axelrod tells how one rehearsal for a TV show with Boris Karloff changed all his preconceived notions of the true personality of this greatest of all portrayers of monsters and homicidal maniacs. Mr. Karloff frightened the life out of even hardened technicians on the set, waited for the director to announce, "That's all for the day," took a deep breath, smiled wistfully, and inquired of everybody present, "Isn't it extraordinary, what a middle-aged English gentleman will do for money?"

An intrepid and conscientious cop down New Mexico way hauled one of those topep dancers into court recently and charged her with indecent exposure. "Did you personally observe the young lady perpetrating this dastardly deed?" inquired His Honor. "I certainly did," maintained the cop. "And how long did you observe her?" His Honor wanted to know. "Two hours and fourteen minutes," answered the cop.

Comedian Phil Harris, happily married to movie star Alice Faye for many years, boasted on a recent TV show that they rarely squabble. He added, "I DO lose my temper once in a great while when Alice forgets something really fundamental—like applauding when I come down for breakfast."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Fever blisters come out on my lips almost every time I have a cold. This becomes embarrassing to a 14-year-old girl because I am teased about it. Maybe, if you wrote a column on it, I could show my friends that their kidding remarks may be fun but are unscientific. Is there any way to prevent them. If not, how can they be made to go away quickly?

Miss J. U. N., Wisconsin
Dear Miss N.: Teenage teasing is no different now than it was when I was a youngster. I remember all the sly looks and the "whom are you kissing now" attitude of well meaning friends. I am certain that it is all in fun and should not be a source of distress to you. It obviously is not, because of your tongue-in-cheek attitude.

Cold sores, or fever blisters, are called herpes simplex, and are known to be caused by a virus infection. Small blisters appear on the skin or the mucous membrane of the lips and mouth.

It is interesting that it is rarely passed from one person to another by direct contact. More often an upper respiratory infection, injury, overexposure to sunlight and emotional distress may start off an attack of cold sores.

Sometimes they come out on out of the clear blue sky without any reasonable cause. They are just a plain nuisance, and, as in your case, are understandably embarrassing to a teenager.

I know of no way to prevent them except perhaps to keep up your body resistance, especially during the early stages of a cold. Plenty of sleep and normal diet are essential.

Many treatments have been tried. Some seem to work, others are almost worthless. Almost everybody has his own favorite remedy.

If cold sores are moistened or kept wet with the tongue, healing seems to be delayed. Doctors sometimes prescribe drying lotions, or creams, and, when necessary, use antibiotic ointments if there is a complicating infection.

Just be patient. You will soon outgrow the teenage, the em-

GOP Seal of Unity

By John Chamberlain

The Republicans went a long way toward unifying their party for the 1968 elections when they made Senator George Murphy of California chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

True enough, Murphy is personally a conservative. He was originally opposed for the chairmanship by Senator Hugh Scott, the Pennsylvania liberal. So you might think that partisanship would not matter who got the job. But Murphy, unlike Hugh Scott, has schooled himself rigorously over the years in the art of being a Republican first and an ideological partisan second. In trying for victory, Murphy can suspend his prejudices.

Hugh Scott, who can be a delightful fellow when he so chooses, has, of late years, developed a peculiarly abrasive quality whenever the word "conservative" is mentioned in his hearing. He sees Rat Finks under the bed, and Goldwaters behind every tree. He has carried on a vendetta against the conservative group in the Young Republican National Federation, calling them young hellsions. If he had been made chairman of his party's Senatorial Campaign Committee, no conservative Senator or running for re-election in 1968 would have felt very comfortable.

The difference between Murphy and Scott is that candidates of both camps know for an absolute certainty that George Murphy will do his best to win for them once they have gotten through the Republican primaries. It was Murphy's example as a supporter of Eisenhower, Nixon, and even ultra-liberal Tom Kuchel in California battles, that led to the adoption of the so-called Eleventh Commandment, "Thou Shalt not speak evil of another Republican," in the recent Reagan campaign for governor. Reagan pays a fervent tribute to Murphy's caniness in his autobiography, "Where's the Rest of Me?"

Although they have been friends since Screen Actor's Guild days, Murphy did not take Reagan's part in the primary fight for nomination for governor of California. He wanted to be in a position to fight convincingly for whoever won the primary. But once Reagan was the nominee Murphy insisted on working for a united front for November. And now that Reagan is governor, Murphy has let his prized Washington assistant, Sandy Quinn, go to California to work for Reagan in Sacramento.

Murphy is a guarantee that the finaglers will not succeed in trying to drive a wedge between Reagan and Republican Lieutenant Governor Robert Finch, who ran ahead of his ticket in November.

When Barry Goldwater was chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee he did yeoman work for the party in speaking and in fund-raising. But, incidentally, he also managed to build himself up as the logical conservative choice for the Presidential nomination. Murphy will bend over backward to keep from using his own position as Senatorial Campaign chairman for personal aggrandizement that might hurt any Republican's chances for any office in 1968.

When Everett Dirksen, knowing Murphy's Hollywood expertise, asked the new Republican Senatorial Campaign chairman to pick the participants for a recent TV show, Murphy might have included himself as leader of a panel. Instead, he put Senator Peter Dominick of Colorado in charge, knowing that Dominick is up for re-election in 1968 and could benefit from the exposure.

Murphy earned the chairmanship of the campaign committee through his prodigious fund-raising drive for the Republicans in 1966. In spite of an operation on his throat, he raised close to two - and a - quarter million dollars for the party. He did all this as a freshman Senator.

With all deference to Senator Hugh Scott's ability, the Pennsylvania liberal was well advised to bow out of the contest for the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee chairmanship when Senator John Tower of Texas withdrew his own candidacy and threw his support to Murphy. Scott is still very active in trying to take over the Young Republican organization for the liberals. This would have made him a divisive figure in a job that demands a cessation of personal commitment to party infighting, for there are a number of Republican Senators who support the Young Republican National Federation presidential aspirations of conservative Jack McDonald, a cousin of Representative William Brock of Tennessee, as against Scott's candidate, Jim Betts of Ohio.

Scott could have been drawn into warfare with Republican Senators over the Young Republicans. But George Murphy is not taking any part in the Young Republican fight. Incidentally, Murphy gets along very well with Hugh Scott, which is the final proof of his fitness for his new job.

West German beer drinkers in the last year downed an average of 26.8 gallons of suds compared to Luxembourg's 26.6 gallons, a survey shows. That's awfully close—just a couple of swallows apart.

In fact, the schnapps consumption of those two nations is such a close contest one might call it a head-to-head race.

hauled one of those topless dancers into court recently and charged her with indecent exposure. "Did you personally observe the young lady perpetrating this dastardly deed?" inquired His Honor. "I certainly did," maintained the cop. "And how long did you observe her?" His Honor wanted to know. "Two hours and fourteen minutes," answered the cop.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLKHAM, M.D.

Fever blisters come out on my lips almost every time I have a cold. This becomes embarrassing to a 14-year-old girl because I am teased about it. Maybe, if you wrote a column on it, I could show my friends that their kidding remarks may be fun but are unscientific. Is there any way to prevent them. If not, how can they be made to go away quickly?

Miss J. U. N., Wisconsin
Dear Miss N.: Teenage teasing is no different now than it was when I was a youngster. I remember all the sly looks and the "whom are you kissing now" attitude of well meaning friends. I am certain that it is all in fun and should not be a source of distress to you. It obviously is not, because of your tongue-in-cheek attitude.

Cold sores, or fever blisters, are called herpes simplex, and are known to be caused by a virus infection. Small blisters appear on the skin or the mucous membrane of the lips and mouth.

It is interesting that it is rarely passed from one person to another by direct contact. More often an upper respiratory infection, injury, overexposure to sunlight and emotional distress may start off an attack of cold sores.

Sometimes they come on out of the clear blue sky without any reasonable cause. They are just a plain nuisance, and, as in your case, are understandably embarrassing to a teenager.

I know of no way to prevent them except perhaps to keep up your body resistance, especially during the early stages of a cold. Plenty of sleep and normal diet are essential. Many treatments have been tried. Some seem to work, others are almost worthless. Almost everybody has his own favorite remedy.

If cold sores are moistened or kept wet with the tongue, healing seems to be delayed. Doctors sometimes prescribe drying lotions, or creams, and, when necessary, use antibiotic ointments if there is a complicating infection.

Just be patient. You will soon outgrow the teenage, the em-

GOP Seal of Unity

By John Chamberlain

The Republicans went a long way toward unifying their party for the 1968 elections when they made Senator George Murphy of California chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

True enough, Murphy is personally a conservative. He was originally opposed for the chairmanship by Senator Hugh Scott, the Pennsylvania liberal. So you might think that partisanship would not matter who got the job. But Murphy, unlike Hugh Scott, has schooled himself rigorously over the years in the art of being a Republican first and an ideological partisan second. In trying for victory, Murphy can suspend his prejudices.

Hugh Scott, who can be a delightful fellow when he so chooses, has, of late years, developed a peculiarly abrasive quality whenever the word "conservative" is mentioned in his hearing. He sees Rat Finks under the bed, and Goldwaters behind every tree. He has carried on a vendetta against the conservative group in the Young Republican National Federation, calling them young hellsions. If he had been made chairman of his party's Senatorial Campaign Committee, no conservative Senator running for re-election in 1968 would have felt very comfortable.

The difference between Murphy and Scott is that candidates of both camps know for an absolute certainty that George Murphy will do his best to win for them once they have gotten through the Republican primaries. It was Murphy's example as a supporter of Eisenhower, Nixon, and even ultra-liberal Tom Kuchel in California ia battles, that led to the adoption of the so-called Eleventh Commandment, "Thou Shalt not speak evil of another Republican," in the recent Reagan campaign for governor. Reagan pays a fervent tribute to Murphy's canny in his autobiography, "Where's the Rest of Me?"

Although they have been friends since Screen Actor's Guild days, Murphy did not take Reagan's part in the primary fight for nomination for governor of California. He wanted to be in a position to fight convincingly for whoever won the primary. But once Reagan was the nominee Murphy insisted on working for a united front for November. And now that Reagan is governor, Murphy has let his prized Washington assistant, Sandy Quinn, go to California to work for Reagan in Sacramento.

Murphy is a guarantee that the fingerlings will not succeed in trying to drive a wedge between Reagan and Republican Lieutenant Governor Robert Finch, who ran ahead of his ticket in November.

When Barry Goldwater was chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee he did yeoman work for the party in speaking and in fund-raising. But, incidentally, he also managed to build himself up as the logical conservative choice for the Presidential nomination. Murphy will bend over backward to keep from using his own position as Senatorial Campaign chairman for personal aggrandizement that might hurt any Republican's chances for any office in 1968. When Everett Dirksen, knowing Murphy's Hollywood expertise, asked the new Republican Senatorial Campaign chairman to pick the participants for a recent TV show, Murphy might have included himself as leader of a panel. Instead, he put Senator Peter Dominick of Colorado in charge, knowing that Dominick is up for re-election in 1968 and could benefit from the exposure.

Murphy earned the chairmanship of the campaign committee through his prodigious fund-raising drive for the Republicans in 1966. In spite of an operation on his throat, he raised close to two-and-a-quarter million dollars for the party. He did all this as a freshman Senator.

With all deference to Senator Hugh Scott's ability, the Pennsylvania liberal was well advised to bow out of the contest for the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee chairmanship when Senator John Tower of Texas withdrew his own candidacy and threw his support to Murphy. Scott is still very active in trying to take over the Young Republican organization for the liberals. This would have made him a divisive figure in a job that demands a cessation of personal commitment to party infighting, for there are a number of Republican Senators who support the Young Republican National Federation presidential aspirations of conservative Jack McDonald, a cousin of Representative William Brock of Tennessee, as against Scott's candidate, Jim Betts of Ohio. Scott could have been drawn into warfare with Republican Senators over the Young Republicans. But George Murphy is not taking any part in the Young Republican fight. Incidentally, Murphy gets along very well with Hugh Scott, which is the final proof of his fitness for his new job.

Chinese Events Move Obscurely

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Peking said today serious opposition to Mao Tse-tung has broken out in Manchuria and the northern province of Shansi, both supposedly secured by Maoists. Wall posters told of fresh clashes elsewhere, including Tibet and Sinkiang in the far west.

A broadcast of an official New China News Agency dispatch called for the immediate arrest of all opponents of party Chairman Mao and his heir apparent, Defense Minister Lin Biao. The import of the broadcasts was that production is being seriously affected in cities and on farms by the civil tumult.

A Chinese language broadcast said some farm communes in Heilungkiang, the northernmost province of Manchuria, were "in a state of paralysis" because of tactics of "counterrevolutionaries in authority."

In Shansi, Mao forces had claimed they seized control of the province adjoining Peking on Jan. 12 with the help of the army. But an official broadcast said that a few days ago the "despicable swine" who support Liu had thrown 10,000 workers against the Maoists.

Quoting wall posters, the Peking correspondent of the Tokyo paper Mainichi said 3,000 persons in Urumchi, the capital of Sinkiang, had stormed a school in the army zone and beaten up pro-Mao students of a construction corps.

In Tibet, said Mainichi, the forestry agency used "white terrorism" to beat up 124 persons. There were no details.

The focus of Peking's attention seemed to be on Shansi Province, where Radio Peking reported "struggles by force."

"Operations in many enterprises were suspended, production was seriously affected and shocking traffic accidents occurred," the radio said.

The report said Liu's forces were refusing to surrender the provincial party committee and had "formed a number of loyalist organizations to create trouble wildly and openly against the pro-Mao revolutionary rebels."

To meet what it called "the sinister means of economic warfare" employed by Liu's forces, the Maoists ordered the circulating capital of all organizations, mines and enterprises frozen. They called on all workers, peasants and functionaries to "carry on work as usual."

As the turmoil on the mainland continued unabated, Japanese correspondents relayed more reports from wall posters in Peking, none of them confirmable.

These were the highlights: Vice Premier Tao Chu, denounced as the power behind recent bloody resistance to Mao in Canton and Nanking, has died of heart disease in a Peking hospital. Raised earlier in the purge to the standing committee of the party politburo, he turned on Mao after a decision to unleash the purge on the big city industries.

Large crowds in Peking assembled before a poster accusing Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, a leader of the purge, of sheltering reactionaries in two Peking universities and refusing to listen to foes of Mao who have turned over a new leaf. The 27 signers said they were reformed reactionaries.

One of President Liu's daughters, Liu Tao, accused her father of buying a gold belt with party funds for his ex-wife as a "consolation gift" and a gold shoehorn for himself.

Foreign Minister Chen Yi's wife, Railway Minister Lu Cheng-tsao and Agriculture Minister Chiang I-chen were paraded through Peking's streets as anti-Maoists on Tuesday.

Yang Hsiu-fent, president of the supreme court, has been expelled from the Communist party and ousted from his court post. An earlier report had said he attempted suicide.

There were no new reports on the situation in Inner Mongolia, where a wall poster reported Wednesday that Vice Premier Ulanfu, longtime czar of the vast autonomous region, had turned army units under his command on the Maoists.

But Peking Radio said pro-Mao troops had successfully quelled stubbornly resisting partisans of Liu in the Manchurian industrial city of Pinking (Harbin).

Ulanfu's resistance in his sparsely populated area did not come as a surprise. He had been denounced on several occasions as an enemy of Mao.

Wall posters said he was against "the inflow of the Han (Chinese) race into Mongolia" and supported "a Mongolia for Mongolians."

President Thomas Jefferson relaxed from the cares of the young republic by playing his fiddle and training a pet mocking-bird to take food from his lips.

Legislature Report

State Representative
21st District

The Senate Committee met and refused to adopt a bill to put Ohio on Eastern Standard Time. As a consequence, if no further action is taken, Ohio will automatically go on Daylight Saving Time.

In the Ohio House of Representatives action was taken to appropriate $25,000,000 for the school deficiency foundation program.

This is the largest sum ever earmarked for education under the school deficiency formula. Although I voted favorably for this, in my opinion the sum is not enough to meet the ever-growing problems in education.

Education, at all levels, is one of the foremost problems facing the schools, which I feel must be the State of Ohio. This bill provided funds for vocational schools, which I feel must be expanded to meet the growing needs of service industries.

The Ohio General Assembly today received perhaps its major legislation for the session when a bill was introduced authorizing an Ohio Building Authority. This is probably the most far-reaching bill introduced which encompasses so many facets. Until studying the proposal in its final form, I can not pre-judge it.

Here's What Young Man Can Expect To Pay in Tax

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — To a young man just starting out in life and expecting modest success, President Johnson's new proposals mean a lifetime Social Security tax bill of something like $25,000 — with a lot of ifs attached.

For his money, he could look forward to retirement benefits at 65 more than half again as high as at present — $279 monthly plus $140 for his wife. Also, medicare after retirement and increased benefits for his wife and children in case of his early death.

Setting aside the part of his contributions which goes for medicare, our man would get his money back in a bit over six and one-half years after age 65 if he were single. A couple would get the money back in a little under four and one-half years. For a widow the time would depend on how long the man received benefits before death.

None of the figures take into account profits that might come from private investment of the money.

As for medicare, no time computation for a particular individual can be made, since the incidence of illness varies broadly.

To compute what such a man would pay requires making several assumptions. The first is that Congress would enact the

Johnson proposals and then make no further changes for the next 43 years — not a very realistic one. Congress several times has changed the benefit and tax structures in the 30 years since Social Security began.

Even if it did not do so again, the prospective changes built into present law plus the Johnson proposals would amount to eight variations during our hero's working life.

Assuming all this, assuming he starts out this year at 21 with a salary of $5,000 and is raised $1,000 a year until his pay catches up with the maximum Social Security coverage, here are his unofficially calculated prospects:

This year he pays $195 for basic Social Security and $25 for medicare, $220 total.

For the next few years, his tax bill rises rather steeply. He is getting more pay — and has not yet hit the ceiling for the payroll tax—and, besides, there is a rate increase in 1969. In that year he pays $315 Social Security and $35 medicare—$350 total. By 1971 the tax totals $445.

In 1974, the tax base goes to $10,800 and our hero is getting more pay than this. His Social Security bill is $540 and his medicare contribution $59.40, total of $599.40.

The Social Security component is now fixed for the rest of his working life, but there are three more fractional increases programmed in the medicare rate, so that this factor reaches $86.40 in 1987, bringing the total combined bill for the rest of our man's working life to $626.40 a year.

By the time he retires, he will have paid $22,335 in Social Security tax plus $3,239.30 for medicare, a total of $25,574.30.

To meet what it called "the sinister means of economic warfare" employed by Liu's forces, the Maoists ordered the circulating capital of all organizations, mines and enterprises frozen. They called on all workers, peasants and functionaries to "carry on work as usual."

As the turmoil on the mainland continued unabated, Japanese correspondents relayed more reports from wall posters in Peking, none of them confirmable.

These were the highlights: Vice Premier Tao Chu, denounced as the power behind recent bloody resistance to Mao in Canton and Nanking, has died of heart disease in a Peking hospital. Raised earlier in the purge to the standing committee of the party politburo, he turned on Mao after a decision to unleash the purge on the big city industries.

Large crowds in Peking as most areas because of big crops in Florida and California.

Oranges, fresh and frozen, are on special nearly everywhere, but it may pay to check the advertisements.

It is a good winter for juice drinkers.

With the huge orange crop, canners and freezers are offering specials not only on orange but competition drinks as well—canned grapefruit juice, pineapple juice, grapefruit concentrate.

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative
21st District

The Senate Committee met and refused to adopt a bill to put Ohio on Eastern Standard Time. As a consequence, if no further action is taken, Ohio will automatically go on Daylight Saving Time.

In the Ohio House of Representatives action was taken to appropriate $25,000,000 for the school deficiency foundation program.

This is the largest sum ever earmarked for education under the school deficiency formula. Although I voted favorably for this, in my opinion the sum is not enough to meet the ever-growing problems in education.

Education, at all levels, is one of the foremost problems facing the schools, which I feel must be the State of Ohio. This bill provided funds for vocational schools, which I feel must be expanded to meet the growing needs of service industries.

The Ohio General Assembly today received perhaps its major legislation for the session when a bill was introduced authorizing an Ohio Building Authority. This is probably the most far-reaching bill introduced which encompasses so many facets. Until studying the proposal in its final form, I can not pre-judge it.

Here's What Young Man Can Expect To Pay in Tax

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — To a young man just starting out in life and expecting modest success, President Johnson's new proposals mean a lifetime Social Security tax bill of something like $25,000 — with a lot of ifs attached.

For his money, he could look forward to retirement benefits at 65 more than half again as high as at present — $279 monthly plus $140 for his wife. Also, medicare after retirement and increased benefits for his wife and children in case of his early death.

Setting aside the part of his contributions which goes for medicare, our man would get his money back in a bit over six and one-half years after age 65 if he were single. A couple would get the money back in a little under four and one-half years. For a widow the time would depend on how long the man received benefits before death.

None of the figures take into account profits that might come from private investment of the money.

As for medicare, no time computation for a particular individual can be made, since the incidence of illness varies broadly.

To compute what such a man would pay requires making several assumptions. The first is that Congress would enact the

Johnson proposals and then make no further changes for the next 43 years — not a very realistic one. Congress several times has changed the benefit and tax structures in the 30 years since Social Security began.

Even if it did not do so again, the prospective changes built into present law plus the Johnson proposals would amount to eight variations during our hero's working life.

Assuming all this, assuming he starts out this year at 21 with a salary of $5,000 and is raised $1,000 a year until his pay catches up with the maximum Social Security coverage, here are his unofficially calculated prospects:

This year he pays $195 for basic Social Security and $25 for medicare, $220 total.

For the next few years, his tax bill rises rather steeply. He is getting more pay — and has not yet hit the ceiling for the payroll tax—and, besides, there is a rate increase in 1969. In that year he pays $315 Social Security and $35 medicare—$350 total. By 1971 the tax totals $445.

In 1974, the tax base goes to $10,800 and our hero is getting more pay than this. His Social Security bill is $540 and his medicare contribution $59.40, total of $599.40.

The Social Security component is now fixed for the rest of his working life, but there are three more fractional increases programmed in the medicare rate, so that this factor reaches $86.40 in 1987, bringing the total combined bill for the rest of our man's working life to $626.40 a year.

By the time he retires, he will have paid $22,335 in Social Security tax plus $3,239.30 for medicare, a total of $25,574.30.

Republican Club Members Meet at Fairgrounds

Pickaway County Women's Republican Club members began their New Year this week with a carry-in luncheon served at the Grange and 4-H Building. Prior to lunch the group sang "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

The business meeting started

Pontious EUB Groups Hold Joint Meeting

Mrs. Ned Kraft was host for the Willing Workers Sunday School Class and the WWSW of Pontious EUB Church for their January meeting. Mrs. Lola Kraft, mother-in-law of Mrs. Kraft, was honored on this occasion.

Mrs. Louise Glitt, president, opened the meeting with prayer and Scripture reading. Two songs were sung by the group. Minutes of the WWSW were read by the secretary, Mrs. Mary Richards.

Two readings concerning missionary work were given by Edwina Holderman. Grace Leist, secretary of the Willing Workers Class, read the minutes of last month's meeting. She also presented a poem which she had composed about the foods the carry-in dinner consisted of at the Christmas meeting, held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Glitt.

Plans for future meetings were discussed. Rev. Wiley Baker led the group in prayer. The next meeting will be Feb. 16 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Palm. Each member is requested to bring a comic valentine.

Miss Melvin, Mr. Roese Are Honored

A bridal shower and family dinner events were observed recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Beavers, Grove City. The honored guests were Miss Kimberley Melvin and Mr. Kenneth Roese.

The bridal shower, held in the afternoon, was attended by: Mrs. Lena Roese, Mrs. Basil Davis, Mrs. Don Henne, Mrs. L. J. O'Neill, Mrs. Bill Cloud, Mrs. Don Beavers, Mrs. Larry Beavers, Mrs. Joe Atton, Mrs. Steve Beavers, Mrs. Harry Beavers, Mrs. Cloyce Kleckner, Mrs. Russell Melvin, Mrs. Conrad Roese and the hostess, Mrs. Beavers.

Dinner was served to approximately 40 guests, relatives of Mr. Roese.

Miss Melvin and Mr. Roese plan to be married Feb. 3 at the Commercial Point Methodist Church.

FOE Auxiliary Holds Dinner Meeting

Ladies Auxiliary, FOE No. 685, met for a regular meeting in the Aerie Home. Madam president Inez Tucker presided.

Following the business meeting a carry-in dinner was held. Esther Olney was the evening's prize winner.

The next meeting will be Feb. 2 at the Aerie Home.

Carolyn Walters, Merlyn Seitz Are Engaged

CAROLYN WALTERS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Walters, Route 4, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn May, to Mr. Merlyn Emory Seitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Seitz, Carleton, Mich.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Circleville High School, is a senior at Capital University where she is majoring in speech. She is a member of Zeta Phi Lambda Sorority and Phi Beta Fraternity.

Mr. Seitz is a graduate of Monroe High School, Monroe, Mich., and a graduate of Capital University. He is presently completing his senior year at the Evangelical Lutheran Theological Seminary, Columbus.

The wedding will be an event of July 29 at Trinity Lutheran Church.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Strong Will Power Accomplishes Much

DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. I am 29, considered intelligent, "a lot of fun," and everyone admires my jolly, outgoing personality. I have had a few dates, but no man has ever taken me seriously. I am the "pal, buddy and big sister" the men come to for advice about the girls they could "care about."

To get to the point, I weighed myself yesterday for the first time since September, 1965, and the needle hit the highest number and just stayed there. It was one of those inexpensive bathroom scales, but it goes up to 300. Need I say more?

I have played Santa Claus at our office Christmas party for the last time, Abby. In plain language, can you give me a diet I can stay on? Don't tell me to see a doctor. The last one I went to weighed more than I did.

FAT AND MISERABLE DEAR FAT: If you want my advice, DON'T tell me what NOT to tell you to do. You MUST see a doctor! Find a thin one if a fat one inspires no confidence. But follow his instructions to the letter — and no cheating.

Don't expect miracles. It will take all the will power and self-control you can muster. But anything that's worth having is worth working for. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and my parents still treat me like I was two years old. Last Friday night I went to a basketball game with some kids and I said I'd be home by 12:30. Well, I didn't get home until 1:25, but it wasn't my fault. The kid who owned the car went for a ride afterwards and I couldn't get home without him.

When I got home my mother was practically in hysterics. My father said if I'd been gone another five minutes they'd have called the police.

I've been grounded for three months. I tried to explain that it wasn't my fault and if they'd let me off this time it would never happen again, but they wouldn't listen. Don't you think their punishment is too rough for what I did?

JEFF

DEAR JEFF: Yes, but accept their decision like a man, and perhaps they'll be impressed with the maturity of your behavior and reconsider.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I was engaged to marry Carl. I even bought my wedding gown and veil. Well, something happened and the wedding never did come off. Here's my problem.

I am now engaged to marry Virgil, and Virgil says flatly that he does not want to marry me in the gown I picked out to marry Carl. In I think he's being extremely childish about the whole thing, but he won't change his mind.

Should I go ahead and wear it against his wishes? Or should I wear it and tell him it's a "new" one. He's never seen it and wouldn't know the difference. I just can't see buying another one.

VIRGIL'S BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: If you hadn't mentioned the gown in the first place, you could have quietly worn it to marry Virgil. But since you DID mention it, and Virgil vetoed it, don't wear it.

To do so against his wishes would be unwise. And to try to fool him would be worse. P.S. If "something happens," and this wedding doesn't come off, don't mention the gown to the next one.

Eighteen members and three guests were present. The guests were Mrs. Clark McFarland, Mrs. George Mallett and Mrs. Fred Rose.

Mrs. Ronald Young conducted the business meeting. Reports were read by Mrs. Norman Anderson and Mrs. Robert Hettinger. A nominating committee was appointed.

Prizes were won by Mrs. George Mowery and Mrs. Paul Thompson.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Evans, Mrs. Cressie Hall and Mrs. Galen Mowery.

The next meeting will be a dinner party Feb. 14 at Wardell's Party Home, starting at 6:30 p. m.

Guild No. 41 Hears Talk by Sheriff Radcliff

Berger Hospital Guild No. 41 met in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Williams, with Mrs. Maynard Burns as co-hostess. Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was guest speaker.

Sheriff Radcliff explained the duties of his department. His talk covered not only his duties, but also of those who work diligently with him.

A note of thanks from Miss Ellen Leist was received, thanking the Guild for Christmas decorations that helped give Berger Hospital a festive look during the holidays.

Mrs. Burns gave an interesting report on the bazaar held in December. She received first prize for selling the most clock tickets. Mrs. Ralph Hannahs was awarded second prize.

The annual gift to Berger Hospital was discussed. A decision will be made at the February meeting.

The bake sale sponsored by the Guild was planned for March. The definite date will be announced later.

Mrs. Robert Turner won the evening's gift, a traveling case.

A dessert course was served to 13 members at the close of the meeting.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. William Browning, with Mrs. Bill Porman as co-hostess.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most people won't read President Johnson's budget message — it's such a swamp of figures — but from it emerges the picture of an America bulging with prosperity and self-confidence.

The self-confidence part of it shows up earliest in Johnson's promise: "In Vietnam, as throughout the world, we seek peace but will provide all the resources needed to combat aggression." That's a big order.

But when Johnson mentions aggression he undoubtedly means Communist aggression. And this promise to stop Communist aggression anywhere is consistent with American policy in Vietnam.

Johnson and others in his administration from time to time have given what sounded like noble reasons for American involvement in Vietnam, such as preserving democracy there although the people never really had it.

But running through all the Johnson explanations there has also been another reason — American self-interest — that the forcible spread of communism is a menace to this country's national security.

Bootblack Learns How To Succeed at Harvard

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Donald Lee Bert, 18, a bootblack and busboy, came to Harvard last fall worried about fitting in with the polished products of Groton, Phillips-Exeter and the other Ivy League prep schools.

"But once I learned to swing a little," he said, "and let my beard grow and my loafers get scuffed and my Levis a bit frayed, I found I looked and acted just like everyone else."

"The thing about Harvard men," he said, "is that they don't want to have anything to do with anyone who is a phony. I just be myself and I get along fine. I don't think anybody cares that I shine shoes."

Bert, a Negro, is the son of a construction worker and a housemaid. He won a four-year, $1,500-a-year National Achievement scholarship on graduating from White Plains, N.Y., high school last year.

"I could have used the scholarship for any college," Bert said in an interview, "and my parents said they would leave it up to me entirely. So I applied to several schools."

"But when I got accepted at Harvard my mother almost went crazy. So I could pretty well tell which direction she was leaning. And all my friends urged me to go to Harvard, too."

Bert, one of six children and the first to go to college began as a caddy at the Ridgeway Country Club in White Plains six years ago and worked his way into a job as locker room bootblack.

When the country club members, all of whom are white, learned that Bert had won a scholarship, they started a fund that will give him more than $2,000 in spending money over the four years.

"I'm the youngest of four boys in my family," he said, "and each of us in turn has been a shoeshine boy in the locker room. Now I guess the job will go to another family."

But not right away. Bert plans to keep his job at least until he has finished college.

"Shining shoes is not real, real interesting work," he said, "but it pays well."

He said he earned $2,200 last spring and summer as bootblack and busboy.

Bert's inclination is to study medicine and become a surgeon.

"I'm under a little pressure to do well here because of the scholarship and because I'm grateful to the people at the country club," Bert said.

"But I try not to think about it. And anyway, the work here is so tremendously interesting. This is a great university, just like they say."

Bishop Pike Criticizes Prefab Ideas

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bishop James A. Pike says the Christian church is the "tail-light, not the headlight, when it comes to the truth."

Speaking before a capacity crowd at the University of Florida Tuesday night, Bishop Pike said that theologians are showing laziness and underestimating the people when they say, "Don't let the little people know, say it the old way, make them feel good."

"The people as a whole and the new theologians are thinking the same questions. It's the church officials who are out of the ball game," Pike said, "But they will catch on."

Bishop Pike, who is seeking a hearing on hedges charges recently filed against him, said, "The prefabricated answers are getting to look stranger and stranger to us, and less and less relevant. It seems more like astrology and alchemy."

The former Episcopal bishop of California said, "the church is dying. But religious books are selling like hotcakes." He noted a decline in church membership and attendance, accompanied by an increased interest in religion.

"The Christian church is being dragged screaming and kicking into the 20th century," he said.

WHERE YOU ALWAYS SAVE

By James Marlow

Nevertheless, the commitment made in Johnson's budget message could keep this country involved in foreign wars — where there is Communist aggression — for countless years to come.

Yet, while Johnson in one sentence is promising such a sweeping and ambitious foreign policy, in the very next sentence he is urging caution about what is to be done at home: "In our urgent domestic programs we will continue to press ahead, at a controlled and reasonable pace."

Thus, while his total budget request to Congress is a record-breaking $135 billion to take care of all the government's present programs and commitments, he goes easy on the idea of new ones.

He recognizes that the country is still trying to digest some of the programs he set in motion the past couple of years.

But the sense of bursting prosperity glimmers through the message and at the very moment he urges caution he provides a catalogue of progress and increasing affluence.

It includes: Gross national product up nearly 5.4 per cent; unemployment below 4 per cent; more than 3 million new jobs found in 1966, income and corporation income in the same year up about 8 per cent.

His budget makes clear the end is not in sight. Johnson is thinking in terms of limitless prosperity although he knows from past history that the economy could get out of control and plunge.

One example of Johnson's confidence in the future, despite the burden of the Vietnamese war, is his request for a 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and most individual income taxes to help pay for the war.

But he is asking Congress not to make it a law until July 1 and whether Congress will impose the tax at all is still uncertain. The attitude seems to be: Wait a while to see how things are going.

For instance, in the past year and a half there has been inflation, with consumer prices going up 4½ per cent although, as Johnson says, efforts were made to hold them down. They may climb some more, making the dollar worth less.

Underlying the rosy glow, Johnson acknowledged this is still far from the perfect society for his message is packed with requests for funds for social welfare programs of one kind or another, including the antipov-erty kind.

Johnson's budget message, like his State of the Union message on Jan. 10, was subdued when compared with some of his more colorful rhetoric of the past, which would indicate a change in his approach to public opinion.

Pentagon Move To Centralize News Arouses Suspicion of News Management

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pentagon is centralizing the flow of news to servicemen abroad, but says the move is a physical one, aimed at efficiency and not news management.

However, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the Special Government Information subcommittee, was on record Wednesday as looking into the matter.

The New York and Los Angeles offices of the official Armed Forces Press, Radio and Television Service already have shifted to Arlington, Va. The New York Bureau of the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, was expected to follow.

"I have directed the subcommittee staff to look into the Stars and Stripes matter and I will keep you advised on developments," Moss wrote Hu Blom, managing editor of the Stars and Stripes matter and chairman of The Associated Press Managing Editors Freedom of Information Committee.

Blom said he had received reports of a planned Pentagon centralization of news, and had written Moss about them.

In Washington, John Broger, civilian director of Armed Forces Information and Education, said creation of the Armed Forces News Bureau represented a physical centralization for the sake of efficiency and economy.

"There will be no difference in the handling of news but simply an increase in the flow of news," Broger said. "I've been in the news field for 35 years and I hold the same views on news as most people in a free society hold."

Broger denied any plans for censorship. He said both European and Pacific editions of Stars and Stripes will continue to receive Associated Press and United Press International news reports at overseas offices in Darmstadt, Germany, and Tokyo.

Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, said AP had informed the directorate for Armed Forces Information and Education that present AP news contracts would not be renewed until the situation was clarified. The contracts expire June 30.

Isn't This Self-Bugging?

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Vanity led to the arrest of Harold Percell, 25.

A customer at a variety store complained recently that the photo machine was out of order. The store manager found the machine jammed with a strip of pictures taken by a previous customer. The man in the photos as pointing what appeared to be a pistol at the camera. The manager called police.

Eugene police arrested Percell two hours later and charged him with carrying a concealed weapon.

Auto Men Face Fact Of Slowdown

cars. One source estimated this week that there were 1,355,100 new cars in dealer inventory as of Jan. 15. This was about 55,000 more than a year ago.

In industry sales terms, it meant that the cars in dealer hands or en route to them represented about a 58-day supply. A year ago, the dealers had a 45-day supply on hand.

Sales in the opening 20 days of the year totaled 361,389 cars, nearly 19 per cent behind last year's pace.

There was a general feeling in Detroit that the overtime which auto workers had come to accept as fairly common in the past three years would vanish for a while.

In Michigan — where one job in six is connected with the auto business — it was felt the cutbacks could start a chain reaction that would be felt by many small factories.

One such result came Wednesday at Adrian, Mich., when Dura Corp. said its plant, which manufactures frames for auto convertible tops, would be closed within two months because of a 50 per cent drop in the need for such frames. About 300 workers would be jobless, the firm said.

On a national scale, General Motors' cutbacks could be felt by many of the 35,000 suppliers from whom it buys. GM said more than 77 per cent of them have fewer than 100 employees.

GM said 1,900 workers would be laid off at its Chevrolet plants at Willow Run and Flint, Mich., and Tarrytown, N.Y., reducing the work force at these plants to 14,300.

The slash occurs Feb. 6 at Willow Run and a week later at the other two plants.

Chrysler's cutbacks affected 14,900 of its 95,000 hourly paid workers. Those at the Hamtramck, Mich., assembly plant took the hardest blow, a two-week shutdown in the Jan. 30 and Feb. 20 periods.

Detroit Lynch Road-Chrysler plant was scheduled to close for the week of Feb. 6 as was Los Angeles. The St. Louis, Mo., plant was listed for a shutdown the week of Feb. 13.

Chrysler said its February production would run about 94,800 cars, compared with 111,100 last year and the 108,000 listed to be built this month.

Catholic School Pattern Is Changing in America

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New patterns in Roman Catholic higher education continue to develop around the country.

At the University of Detroit, a Catholic institution controlled exclusively by the Jesuit order since 1877, plans have been announced to include laymen on its board of trustees.

The Very Rev. Malcolm Carron, university president, said Wednesday the change would be made to "broaden the base of the policy decisions of the university."

Father Carron said, however, that the University of Detroit had no plans to turn control of the university over to secular officials, as some Catholic colleges have.

In New York, the Rev. Leo McLaughlin, president of Fordham University, told a 126th anniversary dinner that Fordham will not follow the example of some Roman Catholic schools and become nonsectarian.

"Putting it very bluntly," Father McLaughlin said, "one reason that changes are being made in the structure of the boards of trustees (of some Catholic universities) is money."

"In the financial order, many Catholic institutions have already passed the point of no return (and) these colleges cannot continue to exist without state aid," he said.

St. Mary's College of St. Mary's, Kan., since 1911 the seminary of the Roman Catholic St. Louis, Mo., University, will become the university's school of divinity when it is re-established on the St. Louis campus this fall.

The reorganization was conceived under directives of the Second Vatican Council and is designed to make the school of divinity a center of ecumenism.

The Rev. Robert J. Henle, S.J., academic vice president of St. Louis University, said the new school will be "not only a teaching institution, but a center of theological scholarship that will set a Catholic school of divinity alongside older, famous Protestant university schools like Harvard and Chicago."

St. Mary's College started in 1848 as a Indian school. The college was closed in 1931 because of a declining student body. The Jesuit order, which ran the school, moved its seminary from St. Louis University to St. Mary's, Kan.

Father Henle said students will be admitted to the seminary without regard to sex, religion or ecclesiastical state. Each participating group of religious order will maintain its own residence house, he added.

Webster College, a Catholic women's institution in Webster Groves, Mo., recently announced it would become secular.

Notre Dame University has announced that it was giving laymen a voice on its board of trustees, now composed of priests.

Blind Secretary Is Rescued Just in Nick of Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Since last October the daily routine had been the same for Isabella Mauri, a blind, 21-year-old secretary for a Manhattan firm.

She would take the subway from her home in Queens to Sixth Avenue and 32nd Street in Manhattan, then walk the short distance to her office with the aid of a cane. And each morning, there was the usual rush-hour crowd.

But Wednesday, it was different.

"Just after I got off the train," Isabella recalled, "I lined myself up to go to the exit. I just follow the way the train goes."

"When I walk, I listen to the sounds of trains coming in so I can see how close I am to the tracks so I know how far in on the platform to go. I listen to the sounds of the air bouncing off the wall so I can tell how close to the wall I am."

Isabella was tapping her cane from left to right as she walked. As she put her left foot forward, she would tap her cane on the

"That way I'm more or less a step ahead of myself," she explained.

"I started walking slowly," she said. "People on both sides of me were running in front of me. I kept getting the cane between people's feet."

Then, suddenly, somebody bent her cane.

"You know how people are rushing to get to work," she said. "They don't see or hear anything. That threw me off balance. I swerved to one side. All of a sudden I lost my balance."

"As soon as I realized that I put my foot into an empty space, I just let myself fall. There was nothing I could do about it. I didn't panic. I felt my head bump, then I heard them jump down."

Isabella fell from the platform onto the southbound express tracks. A police captain and two other men quickly grabbed her from the tracks and pulled her back onto the platform.

"Seconds after we had her up, a train came in," said Leonard Jonas, 53, of Woodmere, Long Island, one of the men who helped rescue Isabella.

"I was just flabbergasted," Isabella said later. "They were so fast. I was surprised. I didn't know what to expect."

She was treated at a hospital for bruises of the right knee and right eye and took a cab to work.

Will she ride the subway again?

"Of course."

cars. One source estimated this week that there were 1,355,100 new cars in dealer inventory as of Jan. 15. This was about 55,000 more than a year ago.
In industry sales terms, it meant that the cars in dealer hands or en route to them represented about a 58-day supply. A year ago, the dealers had a 45-day supply on hand.
Sales in the opening 20 days of the year totaled 361,389 cars, nearly 19 per cent behind last year's pace.

'Stern' Wins Its Case, Then Volunteers Deletions

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The West German magazine Stern in a surprise announcement said Wednesday it was voluntarily cutting some sections of its serialization of "The Death of a President" that the family of the late President John F. Kennedy had found objectionable.

A Stern spokesman said the cuts amounted to 122 lines out of a total of 7,911 in the German serialization of William Manchester's book about the assassination of President Kennedy.

The cuts, he said, affected only passages dealing with what Mrs. Kennedy had told Manchester and her "personal concerns" at the time of the assassination.

But, he added, Stern has no intention of submitting itself to what he called the "political censorship" of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Stern's cuts are not identical with those of Look and other magazines to which Look had sold foreign rights, the spokesman said.

Henri Nannen, editor in chief of Stern, sent a telegram to Mrs. Kennedy, saying: "What I could not do under either political censorship or pressure of legal actions I gladly do voluntarily. The next Stern issue of William Manchester's 'Death of a President' will not contain the personal passages you object to. I am sorry to have caused you displeasure."

Stern said Nannen got a quick reply from Mrs. Kennedy, thanking him.

Three Stern installments of the series already have appeared that have included material that Mrs. Kennedy had wanted cut.

Before Stern's announcement, the Soviet magazine Literary Gazette, a weekly put out by the Soviet Writers' Union in Moscow, carried excerpts from the uncut version of the book which had appeared in Stern's last issue.

"The text which appeared in Look magazine has been changed on the demand of the Kennedy family," said a preface to the excerpts in the Literary Gazette.

"Stern magazine refused to make any changes. In spite of a suit by Look magazine the editors of the West German weekly published the original version. 'Here we offer to the readers' attention some excerpts published in the latest issue of Stern magazine."

The excerpts described events on the day before President Kennedy's assassination.

Evan Thomas, editor of the book, confirmed Tuesday in New York that he had requested Manchester to make some revisions in it.

"The Manchester book was revised in response to many of the editorial comments made by the Kennedy readers and myself," said Thomas, who is chairman of the editorial board of publishers Harper Row.

However, Thomas said one of Mrs. Kennedy's advisers violated a "personal and private" relationship when he made public passages from a letter written by Thomas to Mrs. Kennedy's representatives.

Thomas' letter, dated May 16, was addressed to John Seigenthaler, editor of the Nashville Tennessean, and Edward Guthman, of the Los Angeles Times. Both had served in the Justice Department when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was attorney general.

Richard Goodwin, adviser to the late President Kennedy and currently Mrs. Kennedy's adviser, said Sunday that a letter from the publishers to representatives of the Kennedy family described the book as "in part tasteless and gratuitously insulting to President Johnson and, for that matter, to the memory of the late president."

Tower of London Keeps 6 Ravens

LONDON (AP) — Rising costs have added 42 cents a week to the household budget of the Tower of London.

The extra money is for horse-meat.

The meat is for six captive ravens.

A legend going back centuries holds that the Tower and Britain with it will fall if the ravens depart.

Nobody really believes that, but neither the crown nor the government is taking any chances.

The Tower budget is shared by a number of government departments, but as Britain's prime tourist attraction it pretty well pays for itself. The ravens and the legend behind them are part of that attraction.

One of the guards—known as Johns, was fresh out of the army in 1948 when he was appointed master of the ravens. They know his whistle, they know his footsteps as he approaches every morning to turn them loose from the cages and spread around a breakfast on the green lawns.

Lovers of carrion, the ravens gobble up the meat and sometimes bury some of it rather like a squirrel hides nuts. The older and more decomposed the meat gets, the better they like it.

These evil-looking birds aren't pets by any means. They'd peck the queen if they got the chance. Their croak sounds like the very doom the ancient Tower once meant for so many unfortunates who lost their heads on the chopping block.

Every three months Johns clips their wings, which if left alone would spread four feet. Unable to fly, the ravens lurch drunkenly about the 18 acres of the Tower of London, croaking and pecking anything they choose—even the mortar in the cracks of some of the oldest walls.

Actually the Tower of London is eight towers erected one after the other, from the time of William the Conqueror, into a formidable fortress.

Its role as a fortress established the legend of the ravens. The original fortress, known as the White Tower, was surrounded by woods 850 years ago and ravens flocked around it to gobble up the garbage the garrison heaved out.

In the 17th century, enemies of the restoration of Charles II crept up to Tower Hill one night to seize it, the king and power. Startled ravens set up such a croaking that the sentries were fully alerted.

King Charles ordered the ravens protected and fed from public funds.

The birds come from Cornwall, Wales and Scotland and are donated as needed. They grow old, for birds, Cora, the oldest now, is 21. One of them which lived through World War II got to be 44 before croaking his last.

When a raven dies, the raven master accords it what he calls "an honorable burial" on tower ground, and a replacement is summoned.

'Stern' Wins Its Case, Then Volunteers Deletions

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The West German magazine Stern in a surprise announcement said Wednesday it was voluntarily cutting some sections of its serialization of "The Death of a President" that the family of the late President John F. Kennedy had found objectionable.

A Stern spokesman said the cuts amounted to 122 lines out of a total of 7,911 in the German serialization of William Manchester's book about the assassination of President Kennedy.

The cuts, he said, affected only passages dealing with what Mrs. Kennedy had told Manchester and her "personal concerns" at the time of the assassination.

But, he added, Stern has no intention of submitting itself to what he called the "political censorship" of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Stern's cuts are not identical with those of Look and other magazines to which Look had sold foreign rights, the spokesman said.

Henri Nannen, editor in chief of Stern, sent a telegram to Mrs. Kennedy, saying: "What I could not do under either political censorship or pressure of legal actions I gladly do voluntarily. The next Stern issue of William Manchester's 'Death of a President' will not contain the personal passages you object to. I am sorry to have caused you displeasure."

Stern said Nannen got a quick reply from Mrs. Kennedy, thanking him.

Three Stern installments of the series already have appeared that have included material that Mrs. Kennedy had wanted cut.

Before Stern's announcement, the Soviet magazine Literary Gazette, a weekly put out by the Soviet Writers' Union in Moscow, carried excerpts from the uncut version of the book which had appeared in Stern's last issue.

"The text which appeared in Look magazine has been changed on the demand of the Kennedy family," said a preface to the excerpts in the Literary Gazette.

"Stern magazine refused to make any changes. In spite of a suit by Look magazine the editors of the West German weekly published the original version."

"Here we offer to the readers' attention some excerpts published in the latest issue of Stern magazine."

The excerpts described events on the day before President Kennedy's assassination.

Evan Thomas, editor of the book, confirmed Tuesday in New York that he had requested Manchester to make some revisions in it.

"The Manchester book was revised in response to many of the editorial comments made by the Kennedy readers and myself," said Thomas, who is chairman of the editorial board of publishers Harper Row.

However, Thomas said one of Mrs. Kennedy's advisers violated a "personal and private" relationship when he made public passages from a letter written by Thomas to Mrs. Kennedy's representatives.

Thomas' letter, dated May 16, was addressed to John Seigenthaler, editor of the Nashville Tennessean, and Edward Guthman, of the Los Angeles Times. Both had served in the Justice Department when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was attorney general.

Richard Goodwin, adviser to the late President Kennedy and currently Mrs. Kennedy's adviser, said Sunday that a letter from the publishers to representatives of the Kennedy family described the book as "in part tasteless and gratuitously insulting to President Johnson and, for that matter, to the memory of the late president."

Tower of London Keeps 6 Ravens

LONDON (AP) — Rising costs have added 42 cents a week to the household budget of the Tower of London.

The extra money is for horse-meat.

The meat is for six captive ravens.

A legend going back centuries holds that the Tower and Britain with it will fall if the ravens depart.

Nobody really believes that, but neither the crown nor the government is taking any chances.

The Tower budget is shared by a number of government departments, but as Britain's prime tourist attraction it pretty well pays for itself. The ravens and the legend behind them are part of that attraction.

One of the guards—known as Johns, was fresh out of the army in 1948 when he was appointed master of the ravens. They know his whistle, they know his footsteps as he approaches every morning to turn them loose from the cages and spread around a breakfast on the green lawns.

Lovers of carrion, the ravens gobble up the meat and sometimes bury some of it rather like a squirrel hides nuts. The older and more decomposed the meat gets, the better they like it.

These evil-looking birds aren't pets by any means. They'd peck the queen if they got the chance. Their croak sounds like the very doom the ancient Tower once meant for so many unfortunates who lost their heads on the chopping block.

Every three months Johns clips their wings, which if left alone would spread four feet. Unable to fly, the ravens lurch drunkenly about the 18 acres of the Tower of London, croaking and pecking anything they choose — even the mortar in the cracks of some of the oldest walls.

Actually the Tower of London is eight towers erected one after another, from the time of William the Conqueror, into a formidable fortress.

Its role as a fortress established the legend of the ravens. The original fortress, known as the White Tower, was surrounded by woods 850 years ago and ravens flocked around it to gobble up the garbage the garrison heaved out.

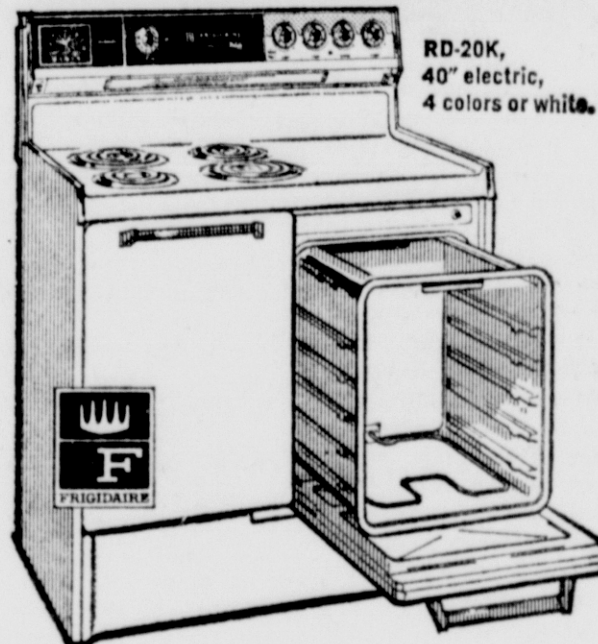

In the 17th century, enemies of the restoration of Charles II crept up to Tower Hill one night to seize it, the king and power. Startled ravens set up such a croaking that the sentries were fully alerted. King Charles ordered the ravens protected and fed from public funds.

The birds come from Cornwall, Wales and Scotland and are donated as needed. They grow old, for birds, Cora, the oldest now, is 21. One of them which lived through World War II got to be 44 before croaking his last.

When a raven dies, the raven master accords it what he calls "an honorable burial" on tower ground, and a replacement is summoned.

'Big Three' To Dominate Open Playoff

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 41st annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament, with a purse of $100,000, was ready to get under way today following a classic foul-up in the pro-amateur prelude.

Arnold Palmer was back to defend the title he earned last year and won once before, in 1963. So were U.S. Open champion Bill Casper and the Masters champion, Jack Nicklaus, neither of whom has won this one.

The Big Three — there is no Big Four since Gary Player is not on deck — dominate the scene at the 6,821-yard, par-36-35-71 Rancho golf course.

The turf is damp and soft from heavy rains earlier in the week, but Nicklaus said, "The course is not too bad. It's better than the two other times I've played it, and the grass is the best I've ever seen here."

Casper added, "It's a little damp, but it ought to dry out."

The pro-am event Wednesday turned into a shambles, and scores of all the professionals were erased. It seems a greenskeeper — kindly he was not identified — moved the position of several cups after play began.

Under PGA rules this meant that some pros, in effect, played one course, and the others, another course.

So the $5,000 pro-am purse was split between the 54 pros, each receiving $92.

Suspended Cager Says He'll Return

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA basketball star Mike Lynn, fined $300 and placed on two years' probation, says he's considering staying in college next year to play for the Bruins.

Lynn, a 21-year-old senior from Covina, Calif., and his roommate, Larry McCollister, 21, of Lemon Grove, Calif., received identical sentences Wednesday for using a credit card without the owner's permission.

They were arrested Nov. 30 and pleaded guilty Jan. 5.

Lynn, a 6-foot-7 forward, still is a student at UCLA, but will not be reinstated as a player, said J. D. Morgan, athletic director.

Under National Collegiate Athletic Association rules, Lynn still has another year of eligibility. He said he is considering playing in 1967-68 but has made no decision.

Hecker Is Army Aide

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Hecker, an Olmsted Falls, Ohio, native who played at Bowling Green State University, is leaving his post as offensive end coach at Miami University of Ohio to join Army's football coaching staff.

Hecker will serve as an aide to Coach Tom Cahill — who coached him when Hecker attended New York's Manlius School in 1951.

Tiger Cage Team Needs 3 Wins for .500 SCO Season

Circleville's basketball team will need victories in the three remaining South Central Ohio League games to finish with an even .500 record in the loop. The Tigers have a 2-5 loop won-lost mark.

The toughest test of the remaining games on the SCO schedule is Friday when potent Greenfield invades the Mill Street Gymnasium at Circleville Junior High School.

Boasting the league's most productive offense with an average of 84.3 points per game, Greenfield has five players listed among the leading scorers in the league.

Steve Seig, a junior center, is scoring points at an average rate of 16.2 per game in league action. Jim Kensing, a senior, has a 14.7 average in league games. Bob Bristley, a second junior who is seeing much action, is hitting the nets at a 13.5 scoring clip.

Jim Taylor, is the big senior center, has a 11.3 average while Sam Daugherty, a senior guard has a 9.3 scoring average.

GREENFIELD is tall. Sieg and Kensing are both 6-3. Bristley and Taylor are 6-1 and Daugherty is 6-0.

Defensively, the McClain Tigers are allowing 65 points a game.

In the first meeting between the two teams, the Red and black went down to defeat, 88-61.

On the small Greenfield floor, Circleville cagers had trouble finding the range of the basket, hitting only 27 of 75 attempts from the field for a 36 per cent average.

Greenfield used a variety of defenses, including man to man and three different zone alignments. Offensively, the visitors will fast break as much as possible and can be expected to keep the ball airborne at every possible chance.

Tim Stonerock, with a 32 point performance against Miami Trace, raised his scoring average in league games to 24.1 per tilt, well ahead of any other cager in the league.

er cager in the league.

DANNY SPEAKMAN is 15th in league action with an 11.6 average. One of his better nights was in the first game against Greenfield when he scored 17 points.

Jeff Steele ranks 20th among league scorers. The junior forward-center has earned a starting berth on the Tiger team and has a 9.3 average in league games.

In recent games, sophomore Dave Horst and junior Rick Congrove have been the other starters for Circleville.

Seniors Joe Winner, Mike Martindill and Danny Gibbs have turned in valuable performances for Circleville in past games. Winner came off the bench at Miami Trace to score 13 points in the second half.

Gibbs best game scoringwise was a 15 point affair at Washington C. H. Mike Martindill has scored a total of 13 points against South Central Ohio League teams.

Rounding out the Circleville squad is junior guard candidate Bob Tootle who has seen limited action this year.

ELSEWHERE around the league Friday, Miami Trace and Wilmington meet in a key battle on the Hurricane's hardwood.

The second place Wilmington team can take a one-half game lead in the SCO by defeating Trace. The Panthers, on the other hand, can all but wrap up the cage crown with a victory.

The other game finds Hillsboro at Washington.

On Saturday, only Greenfield has a game. The Tigers host undefeated Waverly of the Southern Ohio Conference.

Salukis Keep No. 1 Position In Small College Standings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Southern Illinois, which reached the top of the small college basketball poll three weeks ago, apparently has no intention of stepping down from the No. 1 spot.

The Salukis, 11-2, increased their margin over Kentucky Wesleyan in this week's Associated Press poll after defeating the Panthers 52-51 at Owensboro, Ky., and Wichita of the tough Missouri Valley Conference, 77-55.

The victories brought SIU 13 first place votes and 139 points and the top position for the third straight week after finishing third in the poll the last two seasons behind Evansville in 1965 and Cheyney State last year.

Kentucky Wesleyan, 10-1, which led through the early season, drew only one top vote and 124 points, still far ahead of third-ranked Cheyney, 14-0, which had three first place votes at 89 points.

Seventeen votes were cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters with points awarded on a basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, etc.

Tennessee State took the biggest stride, moving from sixth to fourth after victories over Nebraska Wesleyan, Union and Belknap.

Trinity, Tex., was the only newcomer in the Top Ten, replacing Lincoln, Mo., in the 10th spot after whipping Abilene Christian.

Tennessee State's jump dropped Akron and Grambling each a notch to fifth and sixth Indiana State, San Diego State and Pan American retained their positions at seventh, eighth and ninth, respectively.

The Top Ten with first-place votes and points on a 10-9-etc. basis:

1. South. Illinois (13)	139
2. Ky. Wesleyan	124
3. Tenn. State	76
4. Akron	57
5. Grambling	54
6. Indiana State	41
7. San Diego St.	37
8. Pan American	32
9. Trinity, Tex.	20

Buckpasser Suffering Recurring Injury

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Buckpasser, the 1966 Horse of the Year, is suffering again from a hoof injury, and unless the accompanying inflammation subsides, the famed 4-year-old will miss the $100,000-added Strub Stakes Saturday at Santa Anita.

Eddie Naylor, trainer of the Ogden Phipps-owned colt, said Wednesday that Buckpasser suffered recurrence of a quarter-crack in the right forefoot. The ailment kept Buckpasser out of the Triple Crown races as a 3-year-old.

Buckpasser, with a patch on the damaged hoof, galloped Wednesday on the muddy training track, and the son of Tom Fool will be entered today for the 1 1/4 mile Strub Stakes.

Clemente Joins Baseball Elite

Pirate Ace Signs $100,000 Contract

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Roberto Clemente has joined the select group of $100,000 year major league baseball players.

The National League's Most Valuable Player in 1966 signed Wednesday to play again for the Pittsburgh Pirates, who are expected by many to win the 1967 pennant.

Eddie Mathews, recently traded to Houston by Atlanta, signed a reported $50,000 contract with the Astros in another star signing Wednesday.

Clemente, a hard-hitting outfielder with a lifetime average of .310, said he had "no problems whatsoever" in agreeing on terms with Joe L. Brown, the Pirate general manager.

Clemente said only that he got a raise, but a Pittsburgh spokesman indicated $100,000 would be about right making Clemente the highest paid player in Pirate history.

Other players in the $100,000 class include Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

DiMaggio, Williams, Koufax and Musial are retired.

The most Babe Ruth, the famed home run slugger, ever received in one year from the Yankees was $80,000 in the pre-inflation era of more than 30 years ago.

Ruffing Barely Misses Election To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — "There's not much I can do about it," said Red Ruffing when they told him the news. "I'm not going to worry."

Ruffing, the former great pitcher for the New York Yankees, narrowly missed being elected to baseball's Hall of Fame Wednesday. He finished in a tie with Joe Medwick, former outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, with 212 votes, just seven short of the number needed for election.

Roy Campanella, former catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was a close third with 204 votes. For election, a player had to receive 75 per cent of the 292 votes cast by baseball writers.

A run-off between the top 31 vote-getters will be held in February and with a reduced field, Ruffing, Medwick or Campanella would seem to have a good chance of election. Barring a tie, only one player can be elected in the run-off.

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer It's been more than a decade since the University of Toledo Rockets have been a power in college basketball. Today they can be classified as equal to the top-ranked UCLA Bruins in at least one respect. The Rockets and the Bruins are the only undefeated major teams in the country.

The unranked Rockets made it 12 in a row with a 94-70 road victory over Kent State Wednesday night. This compares to UCLA's 14 straight for the season.

Steve Mix, a 6-foot-6 sophomore, threw in 23 points to lead the Rockets to their easy Mid-American Conference triumph over the Golden Flashes.

"I don't know what the future holds, but right now I'm very happy," said Bobby Nichols, whose goal is to win Toledo's first Mid-American crown in 12 years in his second season as head coach for the Rockets.

Dayton whipped Canisius 83-59, Rutgers downed Fordham 82-66, Southern Methodist beat Oklahoma City 92-82, West Virginia defeated Detroit 97-84, Temple crushed Lafayette 78-47 and Villanova routed Penn 71-54 in other Wednesday games.

For the third straight night, all the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll were idle.

Playing at home, Dayton upped its record to 14-3 by trouncing Canisius behind John Morrison's 22 points. It was the third straight defeat for Canisius.

Barons Top Hershey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Cleveland Barons ended Hershey's eight game American Hockey League unbeaten string Wednesday night, beating the Bears 4-1.

Bob Courcy scored two goals for Cleveland and Gene Ubriaco of the Bears took over the AHL scoring lead with a third-period goal.

In the only other AHL game, the Pittsburgh Hornets won their fifth straight with a 5-1 victory over Providence.

us. Bob Lloyd scored 38 points in leading Rutgers over Fordham at New Brunswick, N.J. It was the 10th win against two defeats for the Scarlet Knights.

Lynn Phillips' 21 points, including the go-ahead basket that broke a 77-77 tie, gave Southern Methodist its road triumph over Oklahoma City. It was SMU's 11th victory against four defeats.

Dave Reaser flipped in 32 points, 26 of them in the second half, to lead West Virginia to its come-from-behind triumph over Detroit at Morgantown. The Titans led at halftime 44-38.

John Baum's 26 points paced

Temple over Lafayette and Joe Crews' 19 led Villanova over Penn in a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia.

Holy Cross won its fourth straight by beating Dartmouth 75-54 at Worcester, Mass., behind Ed Siudut's 25 points. In other home court triumphs, Western Michigan edged Miami of Ohio 54-50, Wisconsin routed South Dakota 94-53 and Bradley crushed St. Thomas, of Minnesota, 103-78.

On the road, Marshall rallied in the second half to beat Florida State 77-71 and once-beaten St. Peters of New Jersey downed Baltimore Loyola 82-74.

MONSANTO DOES IT AGAIN!

A new breakthrough in weed and grass control for field corn — a product that answers some very specific needs of farmers in this area. Can you use a pre-emergence herbicide with these advantages?

- no carry-over worries — rotate crops as you wish.
- works on all soil types and at one application rate — forget about more than one soil type on your farm.
- eliminate weed and grass problems for critical first 6 to 8 weeks of plant growth.
- just as effective on upland, bottom land or slopes.
- activated with a minimum of rainfall — exceptionally effective under the most adverse conditions.
- available as granules or wettable powder — no special equipment needed — does not have to be incorporated in soil.

Our supplies are limited — let us take your order now.

East's Tigers Keeping Cool Under Pressure

Hart Is Reluctant To Compare Squad With 1963 Edition

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There are no tell-tale signs yet but the basketball power that Bob Hart has built at Columbus East High School could be feeling the pressure of an unbeaten season.

"We're still playing them one at a time," the veteran scholastic mentor says.
"Everybody wants to beat the guy on top. That's what I keep telling my kids they have to guard against the most."
"But I'd rather be at the top then be shooting at someone else from the bottom."

The 42-year-old Hart, a product of Columbus South and Ohio Wesleyan, is in his 18th year as a coach and his fifth at East. He was at the helm in 1963 when the Tigers topped Marion Harding 41-32 for the state championship.

"There is more pressure on this club because our championship team of 1963 lost a game," Hart noted.

He is reluctant to compare his current squad with the 1963 titlists.

"I'd say this team is better offensively but I'm not so sure of the defense."

East uses a man-to-man press while Hart's championship squad of four years ago employed a zone defense.

Hart has molded two sophomores and two seniors into an unbeatable combo that has swept aside 12 straight foes, including four teams ranked in the AP's top ten.

The No. 1 ranked Tigers are fast, rangy and shoot well. Their starters measure 6-6, two are 6-5 and the guards are 6-3 1/2 and 6-4.

The sophomores, Eddie Ratleff and Alonzo Connor, have been standouts.

"There is no question that they have made the difference. This club potentially could be better than our 1963 team because of size alone."

Ratleff leads the Tigers in points with 222 while Connor tops the club with 14 rebounds a game.

Celts, Royals Easy Winners Over Foes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Basketball Association schedule invited the Boston Celtics and the New York Knicks to play twice this week, but the Celtics stuck Philadelphia and Detroit with the bill.

Playing the ungrateful guest, the Celtics first stuffed themselves with a victory at the expense of Philadelphia's 36-game home court winning streak Tuesday night.

Wednesday night, the Celtics feasted on the Pistons 112-105, extending Detroit's losing streak at home to eight, tying a club record.

Elsewhere, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati beat the New York Knicks for the second time in two nights, 132-125, and St. Louis survived a last half collapse and edged the Chicago Bulls 103-102 in Chicago, and on the West Coast the Los Angeles Lakers whipped the Baltimore Bullets 128-115.

Sam Jones and John Havlicek got the biggest kick out of the evening in Detroit as the Celtics won their sixth straight. The pair scored 21 points in the final period to turn a dull evening into a sparkler for the Celtics.

Jones scored nine of his 30 points in the quarter and Havlicek 12 of his 28 as Boston overcame a seven-point deficit in the final 10 minutes.

Robertson, who scored 37 points to beat the Knicks in New York the night before, matched that total as the Royals lost a 74-57 halftime lead and then came from behind in the last eight minutes in Cincinnati.

St. Louis had a 53-31 lead melt into a 98-93 deficit before Zelmo Beaty and Bill Bridges tied the count at 100. Beaty then made it 102-100 and Bridges' free throw made it 103-101.

A 45-point scoring output by Jerry West triggered Los Angeles' victory over Baltimore. The Lakers, leading 105-98 early in the fourth period, broke the game open and built margins of 115-103 and 124-109.

Florida's basketball team has a pair of 6-foot-10 athletes in senior Jeff Ramsey of St. Petersburg and Neal Walk, a sophomore from Miami Beach.

Most Ohio Clubs In Win Column

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The unranked Toledo Rockets remained the only major undefeated team in the country except for UCLA's untouchables by shelling Kent State 94-70 on the losers' floor Wednesday night.

They're now 12-0, and figure to boast a 14-0 mark before hitting the road for three straight key Mid-American Conference games that could propel the Rockets into NCAA tournament play—and a chance to prove themselves nationally.

Only a road date at unusually weak St. Bonaventure and a return engagement with hapless Kent at home remain for Coach Bobby Nichols' bench before Feb. 4, 8 and 11 dates at fast-moving Marshall, MAC runner-up Western Michigan and dangerous Ohio University.

A sweep would virtually lock up the Mid-Am diadem.

Meanwhile Western Michigan supplanted Miami as chief challenger by trimming the Redskins 54-50 at Kalamazoo Wednesday night. The Broncos now are 3-1 in the league to Toledo's 4-0 and Miami's 4-2.

Dayton won its 14th game in 17 by belting Canisius 83-59, fourth-ranked small college Tennessee State clipped Youngstown 71-56, fifth-ranked Akron hurdled Mount Union 72-61, Ohio Conference leader Wittenberg beat outside opponent Central State 78-65 and Ohio Northern edged Rio Grande 89-87 in other action involving Ohio schools.

Steve Mix, the 6-foot-6 sophomore, again was Toledo's big man with 23 points in swelling a 27-25 edge to a 43-25 halftime bulge and romped home on 39 per cent field shooting.

Reggie Laceyfield's 21 points and key baskets by Ron Kidney and Gene Ford turned a 47-47

Playing the ungrateful guest, the Celtics first stuffed themselves with a victory at the expense of Philadelphia's 36-game home court winning streak Tuesday night.

Wednesday night, the Celtics feasted on the Pistons 112-105, extending Detroit's losing streak at home to eight, tying a club record.

Elsewhere, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati beat the New York Knicks for the second time in two nights, 132-125, and St. Louis survived a last half collapse and edged the Chicago Bulls 103-102 in Chicago, and on the West Coast the Los Angeles Lakers whipped the Baltimore Bullets 128-115.

Sam Jones and John Havlicek got the biggest kick out of the evening in Detroit as the Celtics won their sixth straight. The pair scored 21 points in the final period to turn a dull evening into a sparkler for the Celtics.

Jones scored nine of his 30 points in the quarter and Havlicek 12 of his 28 as Boston overcame a seven-point deficit in the final 10 minutes.

Robertson, who scored 37 points to beat the Knicks in New York the night before, matched that total as the Royals lost a 74-57 halftime lead and then came from behind in the last eight minutes in Cincinnati.

St. Louis had a 53-31 lead melt into a 98-93 deficit before Zelmo Beaty and Bill Bridges tied the count at 100. Beaty then made it 102-100 and Bridges' free throw made it 103-101.

A 45-point scoring output by Jerry West triggered Los Angeles' victory over Baltimore. The Lakers, leading 105-98 early in the fourth period, broke the game open and built margins of 115-103 and 124-109.

Florida's basketball team has a pair of 6-foot-10 athletes in senior Jeff Ramsey of St. Petersburg and Neal Walk, a sophomore from Miami Beach.

Most Ohio Clubs In Win Column

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unranked Toledo Rockets remained the only major undefeated team in the country except for UCLA's untouchables by shelling Kent State 94-70 on the losers' floor Wednesday night.

They're now 12-0, and figure to boast a 14-0 mark before hitting the road for three straight key Mid-American Conference games that could propel the Rockets into NCAA tournament play—and a chance to prove themselves nationally.

Only a road date at unusually weak St. Bonaventure and a return engagement with hapless Kent at home remain for Coach Bobby Nichols' bench before Feb. 4, 8 and 11 dates at fast-moving Marshall, MAC runner-up Western Michigan and dangerous Ohio University.

A sweep would virtually lock up the Mid-Am diadem.

Meanwhile Western Michigan supplanted Miami as chief challenger by trimming the Redskins 54-50 at Kalamazoo Wednesday night. The Broncos now are 3-1 in the league to Toledo's 4-0 and Miami's 4-2.

Dayton won its 14th game in 17 by belting Canisius 83-59, fourth-ranked small college Tennessee State clipped Youngstown 71-56, fifth-ranked Akron hurdled Mount Union 72-61, Ohio Conference leader Wittenberg beat outside opponent Central State 78-65 and Ohio Northern edged Rio Grande 89-87 in other action involving Ohio schools.

Steve Mix, the 6-foot-6 sophomore, again was Toledo's big man with 23 points in swelling a 27-25 edge to a 43-25 halftime bulge and romped home on 39 per cent field shooting.

Reggie Laceyfield's 21 points and key baskets by Ron Kidney and Gene Ford turned a 47-47

PS Society Conducts Its Annual Meet

An election of officers and the extension of greetings to two new directors were included on the program when the Circleville Pumpkin Show Society conducted its annual meeting Wednesday night at Wardell's Party Home.

All officers of the organization were re-elected. They are: Ben H. Gordon, president; Ned Harden, vice president; Roy Marshall, treasurer; and Ned Dresbach, secretary.

Welcomed as new directors were Laurence Priest and Jack E. Clifton.

The business agenda included a decision to change afternoon parade starting time from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. This will allow county school students more time to participate.

ACCORDING to the treasurer's report, the 1966 edition of the Pumpkin Show operated in the black. Excellent weather and large crowds were among the primary reasons for this financial success, officers said.

Additional business focused on a discussion of plans for the Pumpkin Show in 1967. A motion to invite the Ohio Festivals Assn. to hold its annual Queen Contest here was approved.

All officers and directors were present for last night's yearly session.

Ross Teachers Honor Local Assistant

Richard Smith, assistant superintendent of Pickaway County Schools was honored at the winter meeting of the Ross County Teachers' Assn. in Chillicothe.

He was presented a plaque which read: "Presented to Richard Smith for services rendered for the betterment of the teachers and students of the Ross County Schools."

Prior to accepting the appointment in the Pickaway County Schools, Smith was principal of Zane Trace High School for six years in Ross County. He started his teaching career at Zane Trace Schools as a 6th grade teacher in 1950.

Mr. Smith did his undergraduate work at Wittenburg College and holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education from that institution. He has completed a graduate course of study in school administration and also holds a Master of Education Degree from Wittenburg. He has completed post graduate course work at Ohio State University and is married to the former Betty Treisth of Lancaster. The Smiths have four children and are presently residing in Stoutsville.

Deer Creek Funds in LBJ Budget

The budget presented to Congress by President Lyndon B. Johnson includes a request for funds to complete the Deer Creek reservoir project in western Pickaway County.

Congress has been asked to approve $7,523,000 for the Deer Creek Project. Most of the appropriation would be earmarked for more land acquisition and relocation of roads, a spokesman at the dam site said.

Construction of the dam, which was started in the summer of 1965, is scheduled to be completed early in 1968. The project is now 70 per cent complete.

Airport Levy Slated for Ross Voters

CHILLICOTHE — The Ross County Board of Commissioners has voted to place a .4 mill levy for purchase and development of land for a county airport on the May primary ballot.

The board estimated the levy, which will be on the tax duplicates for one year, will result in an income of $68,000.

The Ross commissioners already have budgeted $25,000 for airport construction. In addition, they will become eligible to receive an additional $100,000 in state aid if the airport project is decided upon by June 30.

No airport site has been selected yet by the Commissioners.

Grants Awarded

BOSTON, (AP) — Scholarship totaling $150,000 have been awarded by the State of Massachusetts to 543 medical, dental and nursing students for the 1966-67 academic year.

King Midas Couldn't Have Done More To Make This Window An Event!

It's the touch of lustrous brass hardware high above that makes this window so elegant, so exclusive, so exciting. But how nice that only the look is expensive—the price of such decorator-designed hardware is downright practical. And because anyone can afford these lavish-looking window accents, they've found a place in almost every type of home.

For the formality above, the brass-finished anodized aluminum rod is echoed by sculptured rosette holdbacks. Something informal and Early American? The same rod used with plumes that seem to be antiqued brass. True romantics may prefer their accents beside a graceful swag and moderns can turn traverse treatments simply spectacular by side-scooping them into heavy gold finished chains.

For hundreds of other ideas and the "how to" to make them work, you may obtain a 72-page, full-color book, "How to Make Your Windows Beautiful." Published by Kirsch Company, this helpful guide costs only 50¢.
